Indian Trust Management Reform

AGENCY: Bureau of Indian Affairs, Office of the Secretary, Interior.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) and the Office of the Secretary propose to amend several of their regulations related to Indian trust management to further fulfill the Secretary's fiduciary responsibilities to federally recognized tribes and individual Indians and to meet the Indian trust management policies articulated by Congress in the Indian Land Consolidation Act (ILCA), as amended by the American Indian Probate Reform Act of 2004 (AIPRA). These amendments address Indian trust management issues in the areas of probate, probate hearings and appeals, tribal probate codes, life estates and future interests in Indian land, the Indian land title of record; and conveyances of trust or restricted land. There is also an "Application for Consolidation by Sale" form that is associated with one of these amendments.

I. Statutory Authority

Regulatory amendments to these parts are proposed under the general authority of the Trust Fund Management Reform Act of 1994, 25 U.S.C. 4021 et seq., and the Indian Land Consolidation Act of 2000 (ILCA) as amended by the American Indian Probate Reform Act of 2004 (AIPRA), 25 U.S.C. 2201 et seq. The following table provides additional statutory authority specific to each CFR part.

II. Background

This rulemaking is a result of a collaborative, multi-year undertaking to identify a comprehensive strategy for improving Indian trust management. The Department of the Interior manages Indian trust assets in accordance with its fiduciary trust relationship with tribes and individual Indians. The term “tribes” is used in this preamble to refer to Federally recognized tribes. The purpose of today’s proposed rulemaking is to allow the Department of the Interior to better meet its fiduciary trust responsibilities and to carry out the policies established by Congress to strengthen tribal sovereignty. This rulemaking will provide the Department with the tools to more effectively and consistently manage trust assets and better serve its trust beneficiaries (i.e., Indian tribes and individual Indians).

A. History of the Rule

The Department of the Interior has been examining ways to better meet its fiduciary trust responsibilities since 1994, when Congress passed the Trust Fund Management Reform Act. Throughout this time, the Department has sought the participation and input of tribal leaders and individual Indian beneficiaries to identify ways in which the Department can better serve its beneficiaries.

In July 2001, the Secretary of the Interior (Secretary) issued Secretarial Orders 3231 and 3232. These orders created the Office of Historical Trust Accounting (OHTA) to perform historical accounting of trust assets and created a temporary Office of the Indian Trust Transition (OITT), which was charged with reorganizing the agency to better meet beneficiaries’ needs. These Secretarial Orders also stated the Secretary’s policy to take a more coordinated approach to ensure the overall success of trust reform.

In accordance with this policy, the Department reevaluated its approach to trust reform and, in January 2002, embarked on an examination and reengineering of its Indian trust management processes. This effort differed from prior trust reform efforts because it took a comprehensive approach to trust reform, linking individual trust reform issues to an overall strategy. To ensure that the strategy fully considered tribal concerns, the Department assembled a Joint Task Force of tribal representatives and representatives from the Department.

From members of this Joint Task Force, a subcommittee of both tribal representatives and Department representatives was formed. The subcommittee met regularly to review the “As-Is” processes of the way major trust functions were performed at that time. From this “As-Is” model, the subcommittee identified business goals and objectives the Department should meet in fulfilling its trust responsibilities and providing improved services to trust beneficiaries. It then developed the overall strategy to meet those goals and objectives, documented as the Comprehensive Trust Management (CTM) plan.

The CTM laid the groundwork for trust reform by providing strategic direction for development of the “To-Be” model, known as the Fiduciary Trust Model (FTM). The FTM redesigns trust processes into more efficient, consistent, integrated, and fiscally responsible business processes. In developing the FTM, the team incorporated years of Departmental consultation with tribes. The Department adopted the FTM in December 2004 to guide trust reform. Together with Indian affairs policies, the FTM forms the basis of today’s rulemaking.

B. The Need for This Proposed Rulemaking

Since adopting the FTM, the Department has formed an FTM Implementation Team with tribal representatives. The FTM Implementation Team is leading internal organizational changes for improving performance and accountability in management of the trust. At the beginning of the reengineering process, the Joint Task Force had anticipated that regulatory changes would be necessary to fully implement trust reform. The Team has since determined, and the Secretary has confirmed, that certain regulatory changes are indeed needed to enable the Department to fully implement the FTM. Today’s proposed rule includes many of these necessary regulatory changes.

Additionally, Congress enacted the American Indian Probate Reform Act of 2004. AIPRA amends ILCA to better meet the trust reform goals for land consolidation articulated in ILCA. Regulatory changes authorized by AIPRA are included in this proposed rule.

C. Development of Proposed Regulatory Language

This proposed rulemaking encompasses tribal and Departmental representatives’ efforts on the Joint Task Force, as well as the efforts of tribal representatives who have provided comments throughout the trust reform process. These efforts guided in-house teams in drafting the specific regulatory language included in this proposed rulemaking. The in-house teams consisted of Federal personnel from Department headquarters and the field, and included program officers and Department attorneys possessing extensive expertise in probate, land titles and records, acquisition and conveyance, leasing and grazing, and administrative appeals. On December 27, 2005, the Department shared advance copies of the proposed regulatory language (identified as “preliminary drafts” throughout this preamble) with leaders of each Federally recognized tribal government, as well as additional contacts in Indian country, for their input and recommendations. The Department has also presented the preliminary drafts and obtained the input of tribes at two formal consultation meetings: one in Albuquerque, New Mexico on February 14–15, 2006, and one in Portland, Oregon on March 29, 2006. Comments received during these consultations and in the time leading up to this publication have identified several issues that the Department considered in revising the preliminary drafts for publication as a proposed rule. In accordance with the government-to-government relationship with tribes, formal consultations are also being scheduled to take place during the comment period that follows this publication in the Federal Register to facilitate an informed final rule. See Section IV, Public Comments, for details on upcoming consultations.

D. Status of Other Indian Trust Management Reform Regulations

The Department is also developing regulatory amendments to land acquisitions (25 CFR part 151), leasing (25 CFR part 162), and grazing (25 CFR part 166), and developing draft regulatory language addressing trust fund accounting and appeals (new CFR part), unclaimed moneys/whereabouts unknown (new CFR part), and fees for service (new CFR part). Based on input received during the February 14–15, 2006, Albuquerque tribal consultation session, the Department has determined that these regulations require additional work before publication as a proposed rule. The Department plans to promulgate these additional regulations at some point in the future. Together, these regulatory changes will provide the Department with the tools it needs to better serve beneficiaries and will standardize procedures for consistent execution of fiduciary responsibilities across BIA Regions.

III. Overview of Proposed Rule

The proposed rule amends various parts of the CFR to further implement Indian trust management reform and meet the policies expressed by Congress in ILCA, as amended by AIPRA. Together, these amendments form an integrated approach to Indian trust management related to probate, land records and title documents, and conveyances that allow the Department to better meet the needs of its beneficiaries.

The Department has revised many of these regulations, in accordance with the Plain Language Initiative (63 FR 31885 (June 10, 1998)) to facilitate ease of use and public comprehension.

In addition to making plain language revisions, amendments revise the regulations to:

- Incorporate AIPRA changes to probate: AIPRA created a uniform probate code to standardize intestate succession rules for trust and restricted property. The uniform probate code reinforces tribal sovereignty by eliminating the application of state laws in the probate of trust and restricted assets while deferring to approved tribal probate codes. AIPRA also established new mechanisms for consolidating fractionated interests at probate and through sale of highly fractionated tracts. The proposed amendments to probate regulations would implement AIPRA's provisions by requiring the additional information needed to determine heirs and devisees to be included in the probate file, and by establishing the procedures for directional disclaimers, purchases at probate and consolidation agreements. These regulations continue to refer all probate cases to OHA. The amendments streamline the OHA process by shortening deadlines to more reasonable time periods. Amendments to life estate provisions reflect AIPRA's change in the valuation of a life estate to be "without regard to waste" and base the valuation on the four-year average Single Life Factor used by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in Table S of the 7520 rate schedule, without regard to gender.

- Promote consolidation (reduce fractionation) of interests: Allotments owned by Indians have become increasingly fractionated with the probate of each generation, resulting in the division of the allotment into smaller and smaller interests. These amendments meet the policy expressed by Congress to reduce fractionation (i.e., the exponential increase in the number of ownership interests in a given parcel of land) of tribal and individual Indian interests in trust and restricted property through the use of several tools. These tools include the opportunities for tribes to establish a tribal land consolidation plan; purchase interests in land within their respective jurisdictions when offered for negotiated sale, gift, or exchange; make a tribal tract purchase (i.e., obtain fractionated interests of non-consenting trust and restricted owners under certain circumstances); and unify ownership and consolidate interests in a tract through partition. The amendments allow both tribes and individual Indians to obtain highly fractionated interests through a new mechanism, created by AIPRA: consolidation by sale (called "partition of highly fractionated lands" in AIPRA). Additionally, the new AIPRA mechanisms being incorporated in probate regulations will offer opportunities to reduce fractionation through the distribution of probate property.

- Improve service to beneficiaries: Amendments to the Land Titles and Records Office (LTRO) regulations will update and standardize LTRO title practices and recordation to ensure the Secretary is able to accurately track and record accounting of trust and restricted interest owners, allowing the Secretary to better serve the beneficiaries. Amendments to the probate process are aimed at facilitating the process to reduce the probate backlog and better serve beneficiaries. By clarifying the requirements and processes for probate, approval of tribal probate codes, obtaining LTRO services and products, and conveying trust and restricted property, the Department improves communication and transparency, allowing better service to beneficiaries.

The Department is committed to fully explaining both the purpose and intended effects of these regulations in this preamble. More detailed explanations of each part are provided below, followed by summaries of comments received during tribal consultations on the preliminary drafts of these regulations. The Department welcomes any questions or comments requesting clarification of these parts, as well as additional comments. Additionally, upon finalization of any of these regulations, the Department plans to develop training and other explanatory materials, where appropriate, to facilitate transparency in implementation of these regulations.

IV. Part-by-Part Analysis

The following sections provide a description of the amendments with respect to each CFR part and provide distribution tables listing what current CFR sections are proposed for change, the new (i.e., proposed) CFR section, and a description of the proposed changes. Because this proposed rule incorporates changes made to the preliminary drafts, which were distributed to tribes in December 2005, the following part-by-part analysis includes a discussion of major changes made to each preliminary draft of the CFR part in response to comments.

A. 25 CFR Part 15

The purpose of this part is to describe the authorities, policies and procedures the BIA (or tribe that has contracted or compacted to fulfill probate functions) uses to prepare a probate file for an Indian decedent's trust estate, except for restricted land derived from allotments made to members of the Five Civilized Tribes (Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole) in Oklahoma.

Amendments to this part revise several subsections to ensure that the probate file delivered to OHA for adjudication is as complete as possible. By requiring a certification by BIA that they have examined certain sources of information and that the file is as complete as possible based on those sources of information, the amendments will prevent multiple transfers of the probate file between BIA and OHA, facilitating the process. Additional changes to the records requirements, such as deleting the requirement for a birth certificate, are also intended to facilitate the probate process.

The amendments ensure that information is included in the probate file to determine whether heirs and devisees meet the AIPRA definition of "Indian." The amendments also incorporate definitions regarding AIPRA's new methods for consolidating interests at probate:

- Consolidation agreements, which are agreements by the decedent's heirs and devisees to consolidate their inherited/devisee interests in trust and restricted land or consolidate their inherited/devisee interests in land with other interests they already own in trust and restricted land; and

- Purchase options at probate, which allow eligible purchasers to purchase or exchange a decedent's interest in trust or restricted land.

Amendments to this part ensure that the probate file contains information necessary for implementation of statutory solutions to fractionation set out in 43 CFR part 4, which addresses OHA probate hearings. Part 15 prescribes what must be included in a probate package and how it will be compiled.

Changes From Preliminary Draft

Several tribal commenters questioned why 25 CFR part 15 and 43 CFR part 4, which both address the probate process, are in separate CFR titles. The Department has determined that because these two parts address different agencies—25 CFR part 15 addresses BIA preparation of the probate file, and 43 CFR part 4 addresses adjudication of the probate file once OHA receives it from BIA—these parts are best kept in their respective titles.

Several commenters suggested that the definitions in both 25 CFR part 15 and 43 CFR part 4 should track the definitions as set out in ILCA, as amended by AIPRA. The Department has reviewed the regulatory definitions, and amended them as appropriate to ensure that they are consistent with AIPRA and with 43 CFR parts 4, 30.

The Department examined and changed terms, as appropriate, to ensure consistency with definition of terms in 43 CFR parts 4, 30. The Department also amended other terminology as a result of issues raised by tribal commenters: for example, it changed “trust financial assets” and “cash assets” to “trust personalty” to encompass both cash and securities, and it changed “beneficiaries” to “devisees,” which is a more precise term including only those who receive under a will. In section 15.8, the Department clarified what is meant by a “self-proved will.”

In response to tribal comments, the Department also significantly amended section 15.14. In the preliminary draft, this section had provided that, pending probate, the Secretary could take custody and control of the estate and take any action he or she determined to be necessary for the benefit of the estate, including sale of the land. The version of this section being proposed today instead provides limited emergency actions that BIA may take when assets in an estate may be significantly diminished or destroyed while the probate is pending. Each of the emergency actions require a request to or hearing before OHA, so no unilateral action may be taken to sell land pending probate under this provision.

At least one tribal commenter objected to the last provision in section 15.106 of the preliminary draft, allowing the Secretary to request any additional information in support of the probate file. The Department has deleted the provision allowing the Secretary to require additional information in support of the probate file.

The Department also clarified when claims against an estate may be filed and the deadline for filing such claims in section 15.202.

B. 25 CFR Part 18 [NEW]—Tribal Probate Codes

This new CFR part addresses the process for obtaining Secretarial approval of a tribal probate code and lists factors the Secretary will consider in reviewing the tribal probate code for approval. While tribes have had the authority to adopt their own tribal probate codes governing descent and distribution of trust and restricted lands located within the tribes' respective reservations or otherwise subject to the tribes' jurisdiction, part 18 clarifies that a tribe must obtain Secretarial approval of the code. This part lists the factors the Secretary will consider in reviewing a tribal probate code and establishes when an approved code, repeal, or amendment becomes effective. Upon approval, this part requires the tribe to notify tribal members of the tribal probate code.

Changes From Preliminary Draft

The Department made several plain language changes to the preliminary draft, which has resulted in combining certain sections and rearranging the sections to some degree. The Department added a new subsection (b) to section 18.1 to clarify that a tribal probate code may provide for a single heir rule that differs from the one provided in AIPRA.

The Department also clarified section 18.8(b) (section 18.9 in the preliminary draft) to provide that a tribal probate code or amendment will be applied to the estates of decedents who die on or after the effective date, rather than the date of approval, of the tribal probate code or amendment.

Finally, tribal commenters objected to section 18.12 of the preliminary draft, which provided how tribes should notify their members of a tribal probate code or amendment, as an inappropriate incursion into tribal sovereignty. The Department has deleted this section in its entirety.

Note: A distribution table is not included here because these provisions are entirely new.

C. 25 CFR Part 150—Indian Land Record of Title

The LTRO determines, maintains, and certifies the title status of Indian land and provides various land title products and services to individual Indians, tribes, and other members of the public for land held in trust or restricted status by the United States. Trust status means that title is held by the United States in trust for the benefit of an individual Indian or tribe. Restricted status means ownership of the property is subject to Federal restrictions against alienation and/or encumbrance.

The proposed rule replaces 25 CFR part 150, Land Records and Title Documents, in its entirety, to provide clarification of LTRO's procedures and increase the ability of the LTRO to provide services and products to Indians, tribes, and the public comparable to those provided by state and local land records offices. The changes are described subpart by subpart, below.

Subpart A of the proposed rule, Purpose, Definitions, and Public Information, clarifies that the Department will provide access to the information in the Indian Land Record of Title to individual Indians, tribes, and the public, except in those instances where access would violate law or policy restricting access to such records. The definition of "Indian land" is clarified to include only lands in trust or restricted status and Federal government-owned land that is under the jurisdiction of the BIA, and not land held in fee by Indians or fee land subject to the rights, occupancy, and use of Indians.

Subpart B of the proposed rule, The Indian Land Record of Title Designation as the Official Record of Indian Land, designates the Indian Land Record of Title as the official record of title instruments affecting Indian land. The proposed rule clarifies that constructive notice of the existence of the title instrument is provided by recording the instrument in the Indian Land Record of Title. Recording instruments with other Federal or state offices does not provide constructive notice with regard to Indian land.

Subpart C of the proposed rule, LTRO Procedures and Requirements to Record Instruments in the Indian Land Record of Title, designates the LTRO as the organization within the Federal government that has the responsibility to maintain the Indian Land Record of Title. This subpart describes the LTRO process for receiving and recording title and the process for correcting an error or omission in an LTRO product or service.

Subpart D of the proposed rule, Services and Products of the LTRO, describes the types of services and products offered by the LTRO. Subpart D also proposes charging fees to certain parties for the services and products provided by LTRO. The proposed fees implement the authority contained in 25 U.S.C. 413 and address a Congressional directive, in 31 U.S.C. 9701, for agencies to begin charging fees that are fair and reasonable based upon the value of the service provided by the Federal office. Under 25 U.S.C. 14b, the Secretary may order that such funds be directed to the appropriation account for the LTRO. A fee schedule will be published as a notice separate from this proposed rule. The proposed rule specifies exceptions to the fee.

These proposed provisions will provide a greater benefit to individual Indians, tribes, and the public through clarification of LTRO procedures and will improve LTRO's ability to serve beneficiaries.

Changes From Preliminary Draft

Since distribution of the preliminary draft, the Department made several changes to part 150. For example, the Department added cross-references to 43 CFR part 30 in proposed sections 150.206 and 150.207, relating to corrections of final probate records. The proposed part 150 also moves two sections regarding how to notify the LTRO of an error or omission in a service or product from subpart D to subpart C, for clarity. (See proposed section 150.208). The Department deleted the section in the preliminary draft, "What certified products does the LTRO produce," and added the section, "What services and products may I order from the LTRO." Additional changes and issues are discussed below.

Terminology: The Department added language to clarify several definitions, including "interest," "Land Titles and Records Office," "title," and "title instrument." The Department also rewrote the definition for "tribe" to be consistent with existing regulatory definitions for this term.

Throughout the rule, the Department has modified the terminology to clarify that the rights of the individual beneficiary and tribe relate to an interest in trust (see also 25 CFR part 179).

Effect on Tribes that Compact or Contract LTRO Functions: Several tribal commenters requested clarification on how this rule affects tribes that perform LTRO functions under a contract or compact. Records maintained by tribes under such a contract or compact are part of the Indian Land Record of Title and must be maintained under the same standards and policies. As such, the regulation includes compact and contract tribes under the definition of the "Land Titles and Records Office" for grammatical and textual convenience purposes. The inclusion of compact and contract tribes under this definition is not intended to reflect a limitation on the sovereignty of these tribes. Certain functions performed by the LTRO are inherently Federal functions and can only be performed by a government agency. The inclusion of the compact and contract tribes in this definition is not intended to authorize any such tribe to perform any inherently Federal function.

Access to the Indian Land Record of Title: Several Indian commenters raised the issue of access to LTRO information. Specifically, these commenters pointed out that they are being denied access to LTRO information, sometimes under the auspices of the Privacy Act. The rule clarifies that the Indian Land Record of Title is a public record but that access is subject to the Privacy Act, Freedom of Information Act, and other law or policy restricting access. In some instances, portions of a copy of the title instruments must be redacted under the Privacy Act to eliminate personal information not otherwise included in the Indian Land Record of Title. Additionally, the Department may restrict access to reports prepared for the Secretary. The LTRO performs functions other than entering information into the Indian Land Record of Title and providing copies of maps and title instruments—the LTRO also takes the information from the record, reviews and examines and draws conclusions about it in preparation of a report. Where the LTRO prepares a report for the benefit of the Secretary, the Secretary has the discretion to restrict access to the report. For example, the public may not obtain a copy of the Probate Inventory Report until OHA opens the probate case. While access to the Indian Land Record of Title may be restricted by the Freedom of Information Act, Privacy Act, or other law or policy, the Department believes that in most cases, neither law or policy will restrict access to these records by individual Indians or tribes. Generally, information included in the Indian Land Record of Title will be available to the public without restriction. The Department has also clarified that owners of an interest in trust or restricted land within the same reservation, the tribe or any person that is leasing, using, or consolidating, or is applying to lease, use, or consolidate, such trust or restricted land or the interest in trust or restricted lands may obtain the following information without regard to the Privacy Act and any exemption contained in the Freedom of Information Act: The names, mailing addresses, information on the location of the parcel, and percentage of the parcel owned by each individual.

Who Approves Title Instruments: The Department has deleted as unnecessary the section regarding who the Federal officials are that approve title instruments.

Fees: Based on input received on the preliminary drafts, the Department recognizes that there is strong opposition to requiring Indians and tribes to pay for LTRO services and products. Several tribal commenters also expressed a preference for charging fees exclusively to non-Indians because they believe that providing LTRO products and services to non-Indians without charge burdens the LTRO and diverts monies from other Indian and tribal programs. The Department welcomes continued feedback on the proposal for charging fees for LTRO products and services. The Department will continue to review ways to maximize the efficiency and effectiveness of the products and services provided by the LTRO and consider whether charging fees can assist with this effort. The Department has removed the fee schedule from the text of the regulation and will publish it in a separate notice. This will allow the Department to revise the fees without having to amend the rule.

LTRO Response Time: During tribal consultations, several tribal commenters expressed their frustration at what they characterized as the slowness of the LTRO in responding to requests to provide services and products. The Department is currently undergoing implementation of a technological system that will provide a centralized database of the Indian Land Record of Title. It is the Department's belief that this system will increase the LTRO's ability to respond to requests for products and services in a more timely manner. Several tribal commenters suggested imposing timelines on the LTRO to respond to requests. Due to the complexity and variety of title instruments and reports generated from the information in the Indian Land Record of Title, the Department is unable to establish a baseline time period. Additionally, the Department believes that establishing time frames within this regulation would limit the flexibility to amend those time frames to reflect changes in processes.

D. 25 CFR Part 152—Conveyances

This part establishes the authorities, policy, and procedures governing the conveyance of trust or restricted land. Amendments reorganize this part to clarify the different procedures and requirements applicable to each type of conveyance. The reorganized sections incorporate statutory solutions aimed at reducing fractionation of interests. One such solution, consolidation by sale, is newly established by AIPRA.

Consolidation by sale allows one or more eligible bidders to consolidate highly fractionated land by buying the highly fractionated interests at fair market value through a sale conducted by the Secretary. The amendments also:

- Provide instances where consent of the trust or restricted co-owner is not required to convey a fractional interest, making it easier to consolidate interests;
- Allow conveyance of land within a tribe’s jurisdiction without tribal consent where the grantor owns 100% of the tract;
- Allow tribes to purchase fractional interests of non-consenting trust and restricted owners at fair market value (tribal tract purchases); and
- Clarify that the Secretary will have a lien on income derived from any interest purchased for a tribe under the Indian Land Consolidation program in the amount of the purchase price, until the lien is satisfied or removed by the Secretary.

The reorganization divides this part into various subparts. Proposed subpart A, General Provisions, provides relevant definitions, describes to whom the Secretary will provide ownership information related to conveyance in this part, and establishes the scope of the regulations.

Subpart B, Sales and Exchanges of Tribal Trust or Restricted Land, addresses sales and exchanges of tribal land pursuant to an approved tribal consolidation plan and certain exchanges of tribal land. This subpart describes what a tribal consolidation plan is, how to obtain approval of such a plan, and how to obtain approval of a sale or exchange in the absence of tribal consolidation plan.

Subpart C, Negotiated Sales, Gifts, and Exchanges of Individually Owned Lands, addresses conveyances of individually owned trust or restricted lands. This subpart provides for a tribal option to purchase any trust or restricted interests proposed for sale, gift, or exchange to unrestricted fee status.

Subpart D, Tribal Parcel Purchase, allows tribes to purchase tracts of trust or restricted lands where the tribe either owns at least 50% of the undivided interests in the tract or has obtained the consent of the co-owners of at least 50% of the undivided interests in the tract, subject to the right of an individual owner in possession of the tract to preempt the purchase.

Subpart E, Consolidation by Sale of Highly Fractionated Parcels, incorporates the new consolidation mechanism authorized by AIPRA. Consolidation by sale allows eligible bidders to consolidate interests in highly fractionated parcels where certain consents are obtained. This subpart also provides the procedures for conducting the sale by public auction or sealed bid. There is an “Application for Consolidation by Sale” form associated with this subpart. To obtain a copy of the information collection request submission to OMB or a copy of the form, send your request to the address related to information collections listed in ADDRESSES.

Subpart F, Partitions in Kind, authorizes the Secretary to subdivide trust and restricted land with multiple owners into smaller tracts in which the interests of the owners are unified or consolidated. This subpart allows any owner of a fractionated interest to apply to the Secretary for partition.

Subpart G, Mortgages and Deeds of Trust, allows the Secretary to approve mortgages or deeds of trust encumbering individually owned land under certain circumstances.

Much of the current regulatory language is redesignated into subpart H, Patents in Fee, Certificates of Competency, and Orders Removing Restrictions, and subpart I, Special Provisions applicable to Osage and the Five Civilized Tribes.

Changes From Preliminary Draft

The Department made several changes to the preliminary draft of 25 CFR part 152. Many of the changes are intended to clarify and make terminology consistent.

Definitions: The Department deleted the definitions for “competent” and “contiguous” and added definitions for “fair market value,” “family farm,” and “owner(s).” The Department revised the definition for “Indian.”

Land Consolidation Plans: The preliminary draft had included a section stating that a tribal land consolidation plan may identify for purchase only lands contiguous to the reservation or otherwise subject to tribal jurisdiction. Several tribal commenters objected to the provision stating that the tribal land consolidation plan may identify for purchase only those lands that are located within or contiguous to the tribe’s reservation boundaries, or otherwise subject to tribal jurisdiction. One tribal commenter stated that because it does not have fixed exterior reservation boundaries, this provision would prevent it from acquiring other lands which are in the vicinity of its separate trust parcels, but which are not within or contiguous to that tribe’s “reservation boundaries.” A few tribal commenters stated that this limitation is substantive and is not contained in ILCA section 2203, and therefore should not be imposed by regulation. Another tribal commenter stated that this severely limits the unrestricted fee lands the tribe can purchase. The Department has deleted this restriction. Additionally, the Department has deleted the definition of “contiguous” since this deleted provision was the only appearance of the term “contiguous” in the regulation.

Several tribal commenters also noted that the tribal land consolidation plan conditions effectively require tribes to pre-identify every transaction to be carried out under the plan—whether for sale, purchase, or exchange. These commenters noted that this requirement would cause the tribe to submit new plans or plan amendments for every such transaction. These commenters also asserted that this requirement will result in significant price inflation and force tribes to pay more for those targeted tracts than would be the case without the proposed pre-identification requirement. The Department has replaced the requirement for specifically identifying sales, purchases, and exchanges with a requirement that the plan include a description and map of the general area of the sales, purchases, and exchanges.

Several tribal commenters opposed the requirement for approval of a tribal land consolidation plan as an intrusion on tribal sovereignty. Submission of a tribal land consolidation plan is optional and within the tribe's discretion. However, an approved land consolidation plan will allow a tribe to sell parcels of its trust land in connection with an overall plan to consolidate its land holdings and/or decrease fractionation. Pursuant to federal law, sales under an approved consolidation plan may also be at slightly less than fair market value. If the tribe has no plans to sell its trust land, though, there is no need for it to prepare or submit a land consolidation plan for approval.

Finally, the Department clarified the process for sales and exchanges with a land consolidation plan and without a land consolidation plan.

Sales and Exchanges: The Department revised section 152.210 (section 152.211 of the preliminary draft) to clarify that a grantor may waive the right to be notified of fair market value only if the grantee is Indian, among the other criteria. The Department also deleted section 152.212 of the preliminary draft, addressing requirements for appraisals to determine fair market value because the proposed draft instead incorporates the requirements into the new definition of "fair market value."

Several tribal commenters questioned the meaning of the provision, "trust or restricted land may only be conveyed to a grantee in unrestricted fee status, where all of the trust or restricted interests in the tract are being conveyed" in section 152.205 (section 152.206 of the preliminary draft). The Department has deleted this phrase and clarified that the Indian tribe with jurisdiction will receive notice and has the option to purchase.

The preliminary draft provided that tribal consent for conveyance would be required if a law affecting probate and inheritance rights was in effect. The Department revised this section to clarify that tribal consent of a conveyance is required if the tribe enacted a law requiring consent.

The preliminary draft required the tribe to purchase the fractional interest where it fails to promptly consent to the sale. The Department has removed that provision from the regulation.

Several tribal commenters questioned use of the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) title standards. The Department deleted this reference and instead refers generally to Department of the Interior boundary standards.

Several tribal commenters objected to the proposed provision allowing the Secretary to liquidate off-reservation interests and allow a tribe to purchase an on-reservation interest where the transfer creates a different pattern of jurisdiction or aggravates existing jurisdictional conflicts. This commenter stated that this is contrary to the Federal policy of Indian self-determination. Another commenter stated that a distinction should be made between trust interests and restricted interests because tribes have a jurisdictional responsibility upon acquisition of the beneficial interest in trust parcels. The Department has deleted this section.

Tribal Tract Purchases: Two tribal commenters expressed confusion over the provision stating that tribal tract purchase authority does not extend to "purchases that are limited to any such fractional interests held in unrestricted fee status." The Department has deleted this provision and clarified that tribal tract purchases may include conveyances to the tribe of interests held in fee and that fee interests are included in the calculation to determine whether the tribe owns at least 50% of the tract. With regard to providing notice of a tribal tract purchase to owners whose whereabouts are unknown, the Department has lengthened the time before the closing of the sale that publication in a paper can occur from 30 days to 90 days. The Department has also clarified what action it will take if it does not approve the appraisal for a tribal tract purchase.

Consolidation by Sale: Several tribal representatives commented on the fact that an individual holding the largest ownership interest in the tract, and 20% or greater of the ownership interests in the tract, has a right to match the highest bid. The Department has not made any substantive changes to these provisions because they are prescribed by AIPRA. One tribal commenter stated that the regulation should clarify that both trust and fee interests are subject to consolidation by sale. The Department has clarified this in section 152.402. Another tribal commenter asked whether a fee interest owner would be able to trigger a consolidation by sale. Proposed section 152.403 entitles only "eligible bidders" to submit applications for consolidation by sale. A fee owner may submit an application if he or she meets one of the categories for "eligible bidder." Finally, the Department revised the definition of "bona fide" and made other clarifications.

Partition in Kind: The Department simplified section 152.501, establishing what tracts may be partitioned and deleted the provision excluding partitions of restricted land in Alaska. The preliminary draft included a provision at section 152.606(b) stating that the tribe will not have the right of first refusal where encumbered land is purchased as a result of a foreclosure or sale proceeding. Several tribal commenters asserted that the tribe should have the right to purchase interests that are to be foreclosed and are to be taken into unrestricted fee status. The Department has deleted this provision and instead states that title will be taken in accordance with laws applicable to the foreclosure or sale proceeding.

E. 25 CFR Part 179—Life Estates and Present and Future Interests

This regulation sets forth the authorities, policy and procedures governing the administration of life estates and future interests in Indian lands by the Secretary of the Interior.

Amendments to this part explicitly identify the rights and responsibilities of the life tenant, and define the life tenant's share of income, contract bonuses, and royalties derived from the use of the land and the extraction of minerals or other resources from the land. AIPRA established that life estates are "without regard to waste," meaning that the life tenant is entitled to all income, contract bonuses, and royalties derived from use of the land and extraction of resources. The amendments to this part incorporate this change, providing that all life estates created after June 20, 2006, will be entitled to all income, contract bonuses, and royalties, in the absence of an order, conveyance document, or written agreement specifying otherwise.

The amendments delete the Single Life Factor table for determining the respective values of a life estate and remainder share and instead refer to Actuarial Table S, Valuation of Annuities, obtained from 26 CFR 20.2031. The amendments also eliminate the distinction between the genders in determining the value of a life estate; the current regulations generally value life estates held by females higher than those held by males.

New sections address several topics that allow the Department to determine the type of estate and interest in which a beneficial interest may be held, to ensure that the holder of a life estate, the measuring life for a life estate, the holder of a future interest, and class members can be ascertained in all cases, including when the conveyance document or probate order includes conditions. The amendments also address the termination and renunciation of life estates, establish why notification to BIA of the death of a life tenant is important, and establish that term estates will be treated in the same manner as life estates for the purposes of distributing income, cash bonus, and principal.

Changes From Preliminary Draft

The Department added several new definitions, including "class," "condition," "contingent remainder," "conveyance document," "estate," "executory interest," "extant person," "grantee," "grantor," "holder," "life tenant," "open class," "order," "present interest," "remainderman," "reversionary interest," "Secretary," "term estate," and "vested." The Department also added several sections and expanded others since it released the preliminary draft of part 179.

Effect of State Law: The preliminary draft stated that the Department would look to state law for guidance in the absence of Federal law or Federally approved tribal law. This section has been deleted because the Office of Hearings and Appeals will determine when it is appropriate to look to state law.

Ascertaining Beneficial Interests and Classes: The Department has added several provisions that ensure that the Department can determine the type of estate and interest in which a beneficial interest may be held. For example, proposed section 179.3 ensures that the interest in a life estate vests only in specific, living persons, without conditions. Proposed section 179.4 ensures that the "measuring" life for a life estate is a specific person who is living at the time the conveyance document is approved or testator dies. Proposed section 179.5 ensures that the interest in future interest holders vests only in specific, extant persons, and if there are conditions, that those conditions can be satisfied before the Secretary's approval of the conveyance document, if the future interests are created by conveyance document, or by the death of the testator, if the future interests are created by will. This section will, in practice, forbid successive future interest in persons who are non-specific, non-living persons. Likewise, proposed sections 179.6, 179.7 and 179.8 indicate that, where the conveyance or will grants an interest to a class, the class will close and any conditions must be satisfied upon approval of the conveyance document or death of the testator. Proposed section 179.8 also describes the circumstances in which the Secretary may close or open a class. These changes allow the Secretary to know, at the time of approval of conveyance document or death of the testator, who holds the beneficial interests.

Without Regard to Waste: During tribal consultations and during the period leading up to the publication of this proposed rule, several tribal commenters expressed concern with the preliminary draft's definition of "without regard to waste" and the phrase's effect on protection of the remainderman's interest from abusive practices of the life tenant. AIPRA states that all life estates created on or after June 20, 2006, shall be "without regard to waste" and defines this phrase as meaning that the life tenant shall be entitled to all income, including bonuses and royalties, to such land to the exclusion of the remaindermen. The Department has incorporated this concept into the regulations at proposed section 179.12, which provides that, where the order, conveyance document, or written agreement does not specify otherwise, life tenants will be entitled to all income, principal, contract bonuses, and royalties where the life estate was created by a conveyance document after the effective date of this regulation or by an order in a probate case where the testator died on or after June 20, 2006.

The Department has also added sections 179.9, 179.10 and 179.11, which respectively establish the privileges of a life tenant, the responsibilities a life tenant has to the remainderman, and action a remainderman may take to stop a life tenant from damaging and substantially diminishing property. Section 179.10 specifically states that, with respect to life estates created by probate order after June 20, 2006, or by conveyance document after the passage of this regulation, the life tenant may not destroy the estate, commit malicious waste, or fail to reasonably manage the land in a manner consistent with long-term utilization and trust status of the land.

Sale or Leasing of Interests: The Department has clarified in proposed section 179.9 that the life tenant may rent or sell the life estate interest to someone else. Additionally, section 179.10 notes that provisions regarding the relationship between a life tenant and remainderman do not restrict or amend the authority of the Secretary to consent on behalf of interest owners to the leasing or transfer of Indian land.

Value of Current Life Estate and Remainder: Several tribal commenters identified an issue with placing the Single Life Factor chart directly into the text of the regulation, stating that it will be difficult to update. The Department has addressed this issue by deleting the Single Life Factor chart from the text of the regulation and instead referring to an existing chart that is frequently updated.

F. 43 CFR Part 4, Subpart D

Currently, subpart D of 43 CFR part 4 addresses how OHA adjudicates the probate file that BIA prepares under 25 CFR part 15. The amendments remove the probate hearing procedures to a new part 30. See the discussion of these changes below.

G. 43 CFR Part 30

The amendments make many administrative changes to the part to better meet plain language requirements and make the OHA probate process as transparent as possible. In addition, the amendments make several substantive changes. Amendments to this part clarify the two types of probate proceedings (summary and formal), simplify the deadline for filing a claim against an estate, and clarify the authority of administrative law judges, Indian probate judges, and attorney decision makers.

Other amendments reduce the impact of fractionation on trust and restricted lands and expand land consolidation options by incorporating administrative procedures to implement AIPRA provisions related to consolidation agreements, renunciations in favor of a designated recipient, and purchase options at probate. Consolidation agreements permit heirs and devisees to exchange interests in trust or restricted lands for the purpose of consolidating ownership. Renunciations in favor of a designated recipient enable heirs or devisees that would have inherited a trust or restricted interest to renounce that interest in favor of another eligible party. The availability of the option to purchase a decedent's trust or restricted interests has been expanded to allow tribes, eligible family members, and co-owners of trust or restricted interests to exercise the option.

Changes From Preliminary Draft

Because a significant number of issues on 43 CFR part 4 were identified in tribal comments, the following discussion addresses the issues by subheading in the new 43 CFR part 30.

Overall: The Department reorganized some sections in this subpart to provide a better logical flow. For example, the Department moved former sections 4.382 and 4.383, related to the omission and improper inclusion of property in an estate, to sections 30.126 and 30.127 under the "Judicial Authority and Duties" subheading. Additionally, former section 4.216, related to what happens when a person dies without a will and has no heirs, has been moved to section 30.254 under the "Miscellaneous" subheading. Section 4.217, related to settlement agreements, has been moved to section 30.150, under the new subheading "Consolidation and Settlement Agreements" (formerly, this subheading included only consolidation agreements). Provisions related to tribal purchase of interests under special statutes (sections 4.290 through 4.304 of the preliminary draft) have been moved to sections 30.260 through 30.274. The Department also added a few sections under the "Renunciation of Interests" and "Summary Probate Proceedings" subheadings for clarity.

The Department and tribal commenters identified potential confusion regarding references to "allocated market value," "estimated market value," and "appraised market value." The Department has addressed this issue by deleting references to "allocated" and "estimated" market value and replaced them with "appraised" market value.

Several tribal commenters noted that while the preliminary drafts established timelines for filing an appeal, they did not impose any timelines on OHA to act. For example, several tribal commenters suggested placing a deadline on OHA for designating a case as appropriate for summary or formal hearing and assigning a case to a judge 10 days after receiving the file from BIA. Other tribal commenters suggested imposing a timeframe on notifying potential heirs that a probate case has been assigned to a judge. Another tribal commenter recommended setting time periods for holding the hearing and issuing a final decision in a probate case. The Department has determined that, given the variation in complexity and resources available, establishing set timelines for judges would not be feasible.

Definitions: In response to tribal comments, the Department modified the current definition of “interested parties” to ensure that tribes and co-owners with the option to purchase are included in the definition. Several tribal commenters were concerned that the definition in the preliminary draft was too narrow, and would not provide notice to persons with an interest. The revised definition includes tribes and persons with the option to purchase at probate and all co-owners. (See proposed section 30.102).

Additionally, the Department revised several definitions included in the preliminary draft to ensure consistency with AIPRA and 25 CFR part 15. The Department amended the definition of “child” to include adopted children, in response to tribal comments that biological and adopted children should be treated equally in the distribution of property at probate. The Department also amended other terms for precision: for example, it changed “trust financial assets” and “cash assets” to “trust personalty” to encompass both cash and securities; it changed “beneficiaries” to “devisees,” which is a more precise term including only those who receive under a will; it revised the definitions for “per stirpes” and “de novo” for clarity; and it deleted the placeholders for definitions for “residing on” and “pretermitted spouse,” having determined that meanings for these terms are subject to judicial determination based on fact-specific circumstances.

Commencement of Probate Proceedings: The Department clarified in section 30.114 that OHA will provide notice of the formal or summary probate proceeding and eliminated the requirement for BIA to notify potential heirs and devisees when it forwards the probate file to OHA for consideration because sufficient notice is provided by OHA upon designation of the case for a formal or summary probate proceeding.

Judicial Authority: The Department amended section 4.220 of the preliminary draft, relating to the judge’s general authority. It is now designated as section 30.120. In proposed subsection (f), the Department clarifies that the probate decision and order, not the terms of the sale, determine how the sale at probate and distribution of interests will occur. The Department also clarifies in proposed subsection (i) that the judge first determines whether the tribe has jurisdiction over the trust or restricted property at issue.

The Department clarified the standard against which a judge may determine a person to be dead based upon an extended unexplained absence. The revisions require credible evidence to establish, by a clear and convincing standard, that the person has had no known contact with any person or entity during the six-year period preceding the hearing. (See proposed section 30.124).

Claims: Tribal commenters pointed out that deadlines for filing claims were both unclear and potentially conflicting. The Department significantly amended the provisions related to deadlines for filing claims to simplify the deadline and make consistent with 25 CFR part 15. The deadlines established in the preliminary draft complicated the matter of determining timeliness of claims and introduced both factual and legal issues, including choice of law issues, to determine when the creditor was chargeable with notice. Additionally, the preliminary draft continued the current requirement that the creditor file with BIA rather than OHA. This requirement is no longer appropriate since BIA no longer conducts any probate hearings. For this reason, the Department is allowing filing of claims with BIA while the probate file is being prepared, or with the OHA once the probate file has been transferred to the OHA. The Department has also clarified what must be included in a claim and eliminated the requirement for filing in triplicate. Additionally, the Department deleted the section related to priority and general claims (what had been sections 4.245 and 4.248 in the preliminary draft).

Settlement and Consolidation Agreements: The Department placed provisions relating to settlement agreements with those relating to consolidation agreements. Revisions to the sections on consolidation agreements now specify that there are two types of consolidation agreements, one including only property in the estate, and another including both property in the estate and other property already owned by the heirs or devisees. The Department added a section allowing parties to a settlement or consolidation agreement the ability to waive valuation of trust property, given that the parties to the agreement may have non-economic reasons for entering into the agreement.

Purchase at Probate: The Department clarified provisions relating to purchase at probate and clarified that, in accordance with AIPRA, an appraisal must be completed to determine market value. The Department also clarified provisions relating to renunciations to clarify who may receive a renounced interest in trust or restricted land, and who may receive a renounced interest in trust personalty. The Department also changed the previous provision that had stated the renunciation would not be valid if the designated recipient of a renounced interest refused to take the interest. Instead, this provision now states that the renounced interest will pass to the heirs of the decedent as if the person renouncing the interest had predeceased the decedent.

Summary Probate Proceedings: The Department clarified what summary probate proceedings are and simplified the criteria for when a summary probate proceeding is appropriate (i.e., when the estate is “cash only” and the estate’s value does not exceed $5,000 on the date of death). The Department deletes references to consolidation agreements and purchases at probate with regard to summary probate proceedings because such agreements would not apply to a cash-only estate.

Formal Probate Proceedings: In response to tribal concerns regarding notice of a tribe’s right to purchase, the Department amended section 4.337 of the preliminary draft to require notice to the tribe of probates of estates with trust or restricted land under the tribe’s jurisdiction (see proposed section 30.213).

The Department has deleted the question related to the judge’s authority to require a person to appear at a hearing (section 4.334 of the preliminary draft) because, while the judge does have this authority, the judge’s subpoena authority is broader than the question and answer indicates. The section related to notice of a requirement to appear at a hearing has also been deleted to avoid confusion.

With regard to contests of self-proved wills, the Department has added a provision allowing the judge to order the deposition of a witness at a location reasonably near the witness’s residence, where no attesting witness resides near the place of the hearing.

The Department has also clarified that the official record of the probate case and decisions contain settlement agreements, consolidation agreements, renunciations and acceptances of renounced property, and additional items where interests are sold at probate.

Miscellaneous: The section addressing the rights of inheritance of someone who kills the decedent has been revised to comply with AIPRA. The Department also clarifies that a judge may allow fees for attorneys representing interested parties, but not creditors and that a judge may order the payment of fees to a guardian ad litem.

V. Public Comments

During the period prior to this publication, from December 27, 2005 to March 31, 2006, the Department received correspondence (e-mails, letters, and faxes) from tribes and individual Indians. Of these, the majority addressed at least one of the regulations being proposed today. The remaining addressed only those regulations that were part of the December 27, 2005 package sent to the tribes, but are not part of this proposed rule. The Department has stored these comments so that it can review them when it addresses those remaining regulations.

These comments raised several issues that the Department considered in preparing the drafts for publication as a proposed rule. A summary of those issues that were considered in developing the proposed regulatory language is provided under a subheading "changes to preliminary drafts" under the discussion of each part in the Part-by-Part Analysis. There will also be a 60-day public comment period following this publication. Subsection B provides directions for submitting written comments and information on upcoming tribal consultations addressing this rulemaking.

A. Comments Received Prior to This Publication

The Department provided tribal leaders with preliminary drafts of this proposed rule in December 2005 and requested comment by the end of March 2006. Additionally, the Department held two pre-publication tribal consultation sessions in February 2006 and March 2006 to obtain input on the preliminary drafts.

As previously mentioned, the Department received an overwhelming number of comments during the Albuquerque tribal consultation regarding the volume of regulatory text and number of preliminary draft regulations. In response to these comments, the Department has decided to first focus on those regulations required for, or closely related to, implementation of AIPRA. These regulations are being published today. These regulations are a priority for the Department because they are necessary to implement AIPRA, which became fully effective on June 20, 2006. The remaining regulations that were distributed as preliminary drafts will be re-examined and consulted on at a future date.

Issues raised during tribal consultations and in the time leading up to publication of this proposed rule that are specific to one or more regulations or regulatory sections are addressed in the Part-by-Part Analysis, below.

B. Directions for Submitting Comments

The regulatory amendments proposed in this rulemaking include substantive changes streamlining and standardizing Department procedures to better serve beneficiaries and incorporating statutory law. The amendments also include revisions that are simply administrative in nature, including changes to better meet plain language requirements, defining acronyms, and updating personnel and agency titles. Both tribal and non-tribal members of the public are invited to make substantive comment on any of these changes, whether they be with respect to substantive or administrative changes.

Two copies of written comments should be submitted to the address indicated in the ADDRESSES section of this notice. Comments may also be telefaxed to (202) 208-5320 or submitted by electronic mail ("email") to Michele_F_Singer@ios.doi.gov. For comments submitted electronically, please include the number 1076-AE59 in the subject line of the message. All comments received will be available for public inspection at the Department of the Interior, 1849 C Street, NW., Washington, DC 20240. All written comments received by the date indicated in the DATES section of this notice and all other relevant information in the record will be carefully assessed and fully considered prior to publication of the final rule. Any information considered to be confidential by the commenter must be so identified and submitted in writing. The Department of the Interior reserves the right to determine the confidential status of the information and to treat it according to our determination (see 10 CFR 1004.11).

The Department has scheduled an additional consultation meeting in Rapid City, South Dakota on July 27, 2006, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Best Western Ramkota Hotel and Conference Center. The Department also plans to host two additional consultation meetings in Billings, Montana on August 8, 2006, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Sheraton Billings Hotel and in Minneapolis, Minnesota on August 10, 2006, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Ramada Mall of America. All tribal and non-tribal persons interested in this rulemaking are encouraged to participate in these consultations.

VI. Procedural Requirements

A. Regulatory Planning and Review (Executive Order 12866)

Executive Order 12866 (58 FR 51735, October 4, 1993) requires Federal agencies taking regulatory actions to determine whether that action is "significant." Agencies must submit regulatory actions that qualify as "significant" to the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review, assess the costs and benefits of the regulatory action, and fulfill other requirements of the Executive Order. A "significant regulatory action" is one that is likely to result in a rule that may meet one of the following four criteria:

- (1) Have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more or adversely affect, in a material way, the economy, a sector of the economy, productivity, competition, jobs, the environment, public health or safety, or State, local, or tribal governments or communities;
- (2) Create a serious inconsistency or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency;
- (3) Materially alter the budgetary impact of entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs or the rights and obligations of the recipients thereof; or
- (4) Raise novel legal or policy issues arising out of legal mandates, the President's priorities, or the principles set forth in the Executive Order.

OMB has determined that the rule is not a significant rule under Executive Order 12866 because it is not likely to result in a rule that will meet any of the four criteria.

(1) The rule will not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more or adversely affect, in a material way, the economy, a sector of the economy, productivity, competition, jobs, the environment, public health or safety, or State, local, or tribal governments or communities.

This rule will not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more, as described below. The following discussion individually addresses each Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) part and significant changes within each part, where appropriate. Within the discussion of each CFR part is a brief statement of the major changes, the baseline (i.e., the current state of affairs), an analysis of the economic effect of the change in comparison to the baseline alternative, and a brief conclusion.

25 CFR Part 15

This part governs the processing of probate estates by BIA. Amendments will ensure that the BIA compiles sufficient information into the probate file so that when BIA passes the probate file on to OHA, OHA can properly administer the probate estate. The baseline for this analysis is the existing part 15, which does not incorporate requirements for certain items of information to be included in the probate file.

The Secretary has sole statutory authority to probate Indian estates. 25 U.S.C. 372; First Moon v. White Tail & United States, 270 U.S. 243, 46 S. Ct. 246, 70 L. Ed. 565; United States v. Bowling, 256 U.S. 484, 41 S. Ct. 561, 65 L. Ed. 1054; Lane v. United States, 241 U.S. 201, 36 S. Ct. 599, 60 L. Ed. 956; Hallowell v. Commons, 239 U.S. 506, 36 S. Ct. 202, 60 L. Ed. 409. Bertrand v. Doyle, 36 F.2d 351 (10th Cir. 1929). As such, it is imperative that the Secretary have all the information necessary to properly determine the heirs and distribute estate assets. The alternative to these amendments (i.e., the baseline) would deprive OHA of the information it needs to accurately identify what property is part of the estate, who the heirs and devisees are, and how the property should be distributed among the heirs and devisees. The recently enacted AIPRA amendments to ILCA, 25 U.S.C. 2201 et seq., affects the determination of how property should be distributed among the heirs and beneficiaries by allowing certain persons to purchase interests in property at probate and consolidation agreements, and affecting who can inherit a small fractional interest. AIPRA therefore directly affects the determinations that OHA will make and requires additional information to be included in the probate file.

The primary benefit of the amendments is that they ensure that OHA will have the information it needs in the probate file to adjudicate Indian estates. Because this part addresses only internal processes, and does not impose any enforceable obligation on persons outside the BIA, there is no effect to the outside economy. Amendments to this part focus on the BIA's procedures in compiling a complete probate file, and addressing what should be included in that file. No economic impact is associated with these internal processes.

25 CFR Part 150

The revised Part 150 provides clarification of the LTRO's procedures and increases the ability of the LTRO to provide services and products to Indians, tribes, and the public. Specifically, the amendments describe the LTRO process for receiving and recording title instruments, clarify what services and products LTRO provides, and clarify what documents qualify as title instruments. Currently, the regulations do not clearly define the procedures, products, and services of the LTRO. Finally, the amendments provide a schedule of fees for non-probate LTRO products and services that will be charged.

Those parts of the regulation that describe the processes, services, and products of the LTRO will have no effect on the economy. The amendments that establish fees for LTRO services and products are comparable to those fees charged by local governments for the comparable services and products. These amendments merely redistribute the costs by requiring fees normally paid for by the public at large to be borne by the individuals, other than the excepted categories of individuals, directly benefiting from the service or product. Therefore the effect, if any, on the economy resulting from these amendments is minimal.

For these reasons, the amendments to part 150 will not have an effect on the economy.

25 CFR Part 152

Amendments to this part reorganize subparts and sections within subparts for clarity. Procedures for each of the following conveyances are now clarified:

- Allowing for conveyances at less than fair market value under certain circumstances (see § 152.109);
 - Tribal option to purchase where land is proposed to be conveyed in unrestricted fee (see § 152.206);
 - Conveyances of fractional interests without tribal consent under certain circumstances. Also, tribal options to purchase interests being sold, gifted or exchanged by individual Indians where the tribe has enacted a law that imposes such a requirement (see § 152.209);
 - Tribal tract purchases of fractional interests of non-consenting owners (see Subpart D at § 152.302); and
 - Eligibility for conveying trust and restricted land (see § 152.203).
- Additionally, the amendments implement ILCA policy goals and AIPRA provisions allowing for:
- Conveyances in accordance with tribal land consolidation plans (see subpart B at § 152.101);
 - Consolidation of highly fractionated tracts by purchase of interests at fair market value (see subpart E at § 152.401); and
 - Partition of fractionated lands to unitize interests (see subpart F at § 152.501).
- The amendments also detail eligibility for conveying trust and restricted land, conveying trust and restricted land at less than fair market value, the attachment and removal of Indian Land Consolidation Program liens, and the procedures for mortgages and deeds of trust.

The baseline for this analysis is the current part 152, which does not incorporate AIPRA's provisions advancing consolidation goals. The current part 152 allows for partition of inherited allotments but does not extend partition to other tracts of trust or restricted land or tracts in which fractional interests are held in unrestricted fee status.

a. Tribal Land Consolidation Plans

Amendments to part 152 add provisions regarding tribal land consolidation plans by providing that the Secretary will approve only: (1) Those exchanges and negotiated sales of tribal land that are made pursuant to an approved land consolidation plan and in which the tribe receives at least 90% of the fair market value or greater; and (2) those exchanges made in the absence of a land consolidation plan in which the tribe receives the fair market value or greater. Part 152 restricts the tribe's use of consideration received from negotiated sales and exchanges in accordance with a tribal land consolidation plan to the purchase of other lands as described in the tribal consolidation plan.

These changes from the existing regulation will assist tribes in reducing fractionation and strengthening their land base. A tribal consolidation plan must include the following elements: a description of the land; maps depicting the land to be conveyed and interests to be purchased; an explanation of how the plan will reduce fractionation; and an appropriate tribal authorization. The cost to the tribe of putting together a tribal consolidation plan is estimated to be $2,500. The Secretary is encouraging all Federally recognized tribes to prepare a tribal land consolidation plan. Thus, the total cost resulting from the plan requirement for each of the 562 tribes will be $1.4 million. However, tribes will likely prepare and submit the plans over a period of at least ten years, resulting in an annual cost to tribes of $140,000. This cost is slightly overestimated because some tribes already have a land consolidation plan.

b. Tribal Option To Purchase Where Land Is Conveyed in Unrestricted Fee

The amendments grant tribes the opportunity to purchase trust or restricted lands being proposed for transfer out of trust or to unrestricted status. The benefit of this provision is that it strengthens tribal land holdings.

There are no apparent costs related to this option, as the grantor will receive consideration for the interest being conveyed. Additionally, an exception is provided for those instances where the interest is part of a family farm.

c. Consent for Conveyances

The amendments provide that an owner may convey his or her fractional interest without the consent of co-owners and that owners of 100% of the interests in a tract do not need the consent of the tribe. These provisions grant individuals the right to control conveyances of their interests. The benefit of these provisions includes strengthening individual Indians' abilities to convey and consolidate fractional interests. The co-owners share in this benefit. Additionally, marketability of the land interests is increased with removal of the consent requirement. There is no cost to these provisions because the land remains in trust status.

These amendments also require tribal consent for conveyance of a fractional interest where the tribe has an approved tribal probate code restricting the inheritance rights of the grantee. This provision strengthens tribal control over land within its jurisdiction. No apparent costs are associated with this provision.

d. Tribal Tract Purchases

The tribal tract purchase amendments implement provisions of AIPRA authorizing the Secretary to convey the fractional interests of any non-consenting trust and restricted owners to a tribe, where the tribe owns at least 50% of the trust or restricted interests in the tract or has obtained the consent of the owners of at least 50% of such interests.

These provisions increase tribes' ability to obtain and consolidate fractional interests. Ultimately, this will grant the tribes more economic power through land holdings. Additionally, individual interests held in trust and restricted status are subject to restrictions on transfer. The cost of restricting free transfer without the approval of the Secretary or tribe affects the value of the interest. The value of land is not affected by the percentage of consent required, except to the degree that the time in which transfer occurs may be lessened by reducing the percentage required, thus increasing marketability.

e. Consolidation by Sale of Highly Fractionated Tracts

Consolidation by sale applies to trust and restricted lands, on or off reservation, that are highly fractionated parcels. In order to consolidate by sale, an eligible applicant must obtain certain consents including consent of the owners of at least 50% of the undivided interests in the parcel. Consolidation of highly fractionated parcels by sale will increase individual Indians' and tribal land holdings, providing them with greater economic power and use of land. As stated above, individual interests held in trust and restricted status are subject to restrictions on transfer. The cost of restricting free transfer without the approval of the Secretary or tribe affects the value of the interest. The value of land is not affected by the percentage of consent required, except to the degree that the time in which transfer occurs may be lessened by reducing the percentage required, thus increasing marketability.

Allowing consolidation by sale is expected to reduce the proportion of highly fractionated interests. The cumulative transfers of property achieved via consolidation by sale is not expected to impact the economy. However, economic benefits are expected to accrue by allowing owners greater economic power and control of the use of their land.

f. Partition in Kind

This subpart authorizes the Secretary to subdivide trust and restricted land with multiple owners into smaller tracts in which the interests of the owners are unified or consolidated, where the owners have been unable to accomplish such a partition in kind by exchange of deeds. Any owner of a fractional interest may apply to the Secretary for a partition. This new subpart will provide owners with greater control over their land; there is no apparent effect on the economy.

g. Eligibility for Conveying and Receiving Individually Owned Interests in Trust or Restricted Status

The amendments clarify that individual Indians (or their guardians, etc.) may convey lands and that only tribes, individual Indians, and other co-owners in trust or restricted status may acquire individually owned trust or restricted land. This clarification is made to ensure that individual Indians without a tribal land base are permitted to convey and receive interests in trust or restricted status. This provision will have no economic effect.

h. Conveyance of Individually Owned Interests at Less than Fair Market Value

The amendments remove restrictions on conveying individually owned interests at less than fair market value, as long as the grantor is provided with information regarding the fair market value. This will increase the ability of individuals to sell their land as they choose. Additionally, these amendments make land interests more marketable by reducing the restrictions on transfer. The cost of obtaining information on fair market value was already required, so the amendments add no new costs.

i. Attachment and Removal of Indian Land Consolidation Program Liens

These amendments implement AIPRA provisions regarding the Indian Land Consolidation program liens, in which a lien in the amount of the purchase price attaches to income derived from any interest purchased through the Indian Land Consolidation Program. This provision has no apparent costs as the lien is removed upon satisfaction.

j. Mortgages and Deeds of Trust

These amendments detail existing procedures by which the Secretary approves mortgages or deeds of trust encumbering individually owned land, where all of the trust or restricted interests in a tract are being encumbered and made subject to foreclosure or sale in the event of a default on the loan being secured by the approved document. There is no quantifiable effect on the economy because the title remains in trust even if foreclosure occurs.

Cumulatively, part 152 will not have a significant or quantifiable effect on the economy.

25 CFR Part 179

Amendments to part 179 make two primary changes with potential to affect the economy:

- Incorporates AIPRA's requirement that life estates after June 20, 2006, will be "without regard to waste," meaning that the life tenant is now entitled to receipt of all income—including rents and profits, such as contract bonuses and royalties, and the interest on invested principal—from the land. However, the testator can still specify in the conveyance document distributions to the life tenant and remaindermen different from those established by AIPRA.

- Changes the discount rate to make it consistent with the Internal Revenue Service's valuations of life estate, which will generally provide the remaindermen with more value than under the current 6% discount rate.

The existing part 179 provides that the life tenant will have the rights to all rents and profit, as income, from the estate, but did not provide that such rights were "without regard to waste."

Therefore, the existing part 179 required the life tenant to ensure that it did not diminish the estates of the remainderman in its pursuit of rents and profits. Additionally, the existing part 179 required contract bonuses to be split one-half each to the life tenant and remainderman, whereas now the life tenant is entitled to the full amount of the contract bonus.

The first primary change to part 179 is necessary to reflect the AIPRA section establishing that life estates will be determined "without regard to waste," meaning that the life estate holder is entitled to the receipt of all income, including bonuses and royalties, from such land, to the exclusion of remaindermen. See 25 U.S.C. 2201(10), 2205(a)(3), 2206(a)(2). These amendments comply with the provisions of AIPRA with respect to life estates after June 20, 2006. The testator can still specify in the conveyance document distributions to the life tenant and remaindermen different from those established by AIPRA. There is no change with respect to life estates created before June 20, 2006.

Amendments to the discount rate make the rate consistent with the Internal Revenue Service's valuations of life estate, which will generally provide the remaindermen with more value than under the current 6% discount rate.

The cost of amendments incorporating "without regard to waste" provisions could be a deferred value of the remaindermen's estate. However, amendments to the discount rate will generally provide remaindermen with more value. These amendments may affect the timing of the distribution of the value of the land between life tenants and remaindermen, but will not affect the economy as a whole.

For these reasons, part 179 will not have a measurable effect on the economy.

43 CFR Parts 4 and 30

Most amendments to 43 CFR part 4 (including those incorporated in the new part 30) are amendments to the existing 43 CFR 4 subpart D, relating to the administration of probate estates. The amendments add provisions to establish procedures for renouncing an interest, consolidating interests by agreement, requesting and conducting a purchase at probate, determining fair market value, requesting disqualification of a judge, and standardizing the time periods for filing requests for de novo review and rehearing to 30, rather than 60, days.

The existing 43 CFR part 4 does not contain any of the methods for acquiring interests at probate that have recently been established by AIPRA.

Additionally, the current time period for filing requests for de novo review and rehearing is 60 days.

Neither the existing part 4 nor the amendments to part 4 affect the economy. Because these provisions relate to the adjudication of probate estates and will not affect the amount of money and property within each estate that is distributed, nor the number of estates that must be probated, they have no effect on the economy. For these reasons, amendments to 43 CFR part 4, subpart D, and the new 43 CFR part 30 will not affect the economy.

New 25 CFR Part 18 (Tribal Probate Codes)

The new CFR part addressing tribal probate codes implements provisions of ILCA that allow any tribe to adopt a tribal probate code to govern descent and distribution of trust and restricted lands within its reservation or otherwise subject to its jurisdiction. 25 U.S.C. 2005(a). ILCA provides that the tribe must submit the tribal probate code to the Secretary for review and that the Secretary may not approve tribal probate codes that contain certain provisions.

The baseline is the absence of regulations governing tribal probate codes. While the ILCA statute had established requirements for a tribal probate code and the basics of the submission and approval process since 1983, there have been no implementing regulations. With AIPRA, a new uniform probate code will govern descent and distribution of trust and restricted property. This may prompt some tribes to prepare one and may prompt tribes that already have a tribal probate code to amend it in light of AIPRA.

AIPRA will govern the descent and distribution of trust and restricted property owned by a deceased Indian in the absence of a will. In the alternative, approved tribal probate codes will also govern the distribution of trust property, but will not directly affect the economy. These regulations, which implement statutory provisions for Secretarial approval of tribal probate codes, do not affect the economy because tribes were already authorized to establish tribal probate codes and statutorily required to submit such codes to the Secretary for approval.

For these reasons, the proposed new CFR part, 25 CFR part 18, will not affect the economy.

(2) This rule will not create a serious inconsistency or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency.

Implementation of this rule will not create any serious inconsistencies or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency because the Department is the only agency with authority for handling Indian trust management issues. Additionally, this rule will standardize processes within the Department, to guard against internal inconsistencies.

(3) This rule will not materially alter the budgetary impact of entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs or the rights and obligations of the recipients thereof.

(a) The revisions 25 CFR part 15 address what must be included in a probate package and describe how to file a claim against an estate, but do not address entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs. Therefore, revisions to part 15 have no budgetary effects and do not affect the rights or obligations of any recipients.

(b) The revisions to 43 CFR part 4 (including those incorporated into the new 43 CFR part 30) address the procedures for adjudicating a probate case and the rights of individual Indians with respect to a given probate case. The revisions do not address entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs.

(c) In 25 CFR part 150, the rule establishes user fees for services and products provided by LTRO. The Secretary had the right to charge fees under the prior regulation, but the revised part 150 describes the Secretary's intent to begin charging fees to persons who are not excepted. Under 25 U.S.C. 14b, the Secretary may order that such funds be directed to the appropriation account for LTRO. Because the categories of persons who are exempt from the fees is so large, the budgetary impact of the revised part 150 will be minimal.

(d) In 25 CFR part 152, the rule implements AIPRA provisions to allow for consolidation of highly fractionated lands, purchase of interests at fair market value, and consolidation agreements. These provisions broaden tribes' rights to acquire interests through tribal tract purchases. Where interests are acquired at the fair market value, the Secretary may contribute money from the Acquisition Fund. ILCA established the Acquisition Fund, authorizing the Secretary to disburse appropriations to acquire fractional interests at fair market value and to collect all revenues from the lease, permit, or sale of resources from acquired interests or paid by Indian landowners. By broadening tribes' rights to acquire interests into trust, revisions to part 152 may increase use of Acquisition Funds.

Additionally, subpart K of part 152 allows for the partition of lands into smaller parcels where the interests are unified. Under ILCA, grants are available to successful bidders for partitions; however, the amendments do not affect the grants. Because conveyance of trust and restricted interests is generally voluntary, these amendments do not involve entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs, and therefore do not affect the budget of the Department or the rights and obligations of recipients.

(e) In 25 CFR part 179, the respective rights of a life estate tenant and remaindermen are changed, as of June 20, 2006. This change entitles the life tenant to receipt of all income—including rents and profits, such as contract bonuses and royalties—from the land. However, the testator can still specify in the conveyance document distributions to the life tenant and remaindermen different from those established by AIPRA. The Department anticipates that this change in rights will not impact the budget.

(f) The new regulation addressing tribal probate codes will not materially alter the Department's budget because the regulation merely implements the existing statutory requirement for Departmental review of tribal probate codes; nor does the regulation affect the rights and obligations of recipients, as tribes' probate codes were already subject to Departmental review.

(4) This rule does not raise novel legal or policy issues arising out of legal mandates, the President's priorities, or the principles set forth in the Executive Order.

Most of the regulatory changes directly implement statutory provisions and court orders that require certain action to meet Indian trust management responsibilities. Specifically, the rule implements requirements of AIPRA, the Trust Fund Management Reform Act of 1994 and court orders. The legal and policy issues related with this rulemaking have been the subject of legislation, judicial action, and consultations with tribes. They have been thoroughly discussed through the process of developing and implementing the Fiduciary Trust Model, discussed in the "History of the Rule" section of the preamble.

Thus, the impact of the rule is confined to the Federal Government, individual Indians, and tribes and does not impose a compliance burden on the economy generally. Accordingly, this rule is not a "significant regulatory action" from an economic standpoint, nor does it otherwise create any inconsistencies or budgetary impacts to any other agency or Federal program.

B. The Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), requires Federal agencies to conduct a regulatory flexibility analysis when publishing a notice of rulemaking for any proposed or final rule. The regulatory flexibility analysis determines whether the rule will have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities (i.e., small businesses, small organizations, and small governmental jurisdictions). Indian tribes are not considered to be small entities for the purposes of the Act and, consequently, no regulatory flexibility analysis has been done to address the effects on Indian tribes.

Because the proposed rule is limited to probated estates, land, and assets within the United States and within tribal communities, it will not have significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of the U.S.-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises. Accordingly, this proposed rule will not have an economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and requires no regulatory flexibility analysis.

C. Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996

The Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996 (SBREFA), 5 U.S.C. 804(2), sets criteria for determining whether a rule is "major." A rule is "major" if OMB finds that the rule will result in: (1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, state, or local government agencies, or geographic regions; or (3) significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of U.S.-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises.

The proposed rule is not "major" within the meaning of SBREFA because it is exclusively confined to the Federal Government, individual Indians, and tribes, but the proposed rule may require some limited additional expenditures by tribes, as discussed in subsection (h) of the procedural requirements (Paperwork Reduction Act) of this preamble.

However, the proposed rule will not result in the expenditure by State, local, or tribal governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector of $100 million or more in any one year.

Because the proposed rule is limited to probated estates, land, and assets within the United States and within tribal communities, it will not have significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or the ability of the U.S.-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises. Accordingly, this proposed rule will not have an economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and requires no regulatory flexibility analysis.

D. Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995

Title II of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (UMRA), Public Law 104-4, requires Federal agencies to assess the effects of their regulatory actions on state, local, and tribal governments and the private sector. If the Federal agency promulgates a proposed or final rule with "Federal" mandates that may result in expenditures by state, local, and tribal governments, in the aggregate, or by the private sector, of $100 million or more in any one year, the Federal agency must prepare a written statement, including a cost-benefit analysis of the rule, under section 202 of the UMRA. The term "Federal mandate" means any provision in statute or regulation or any Federal court ruling that imposes "an enforceable duty" upon state, local, or tribal governments, and includes any condition of Federal assistance or a duty arising from participation in a voluntary Federal program that imposes such a duty.

The Department has determined that the rule does not contain a Federal mandate that may result in expenditures of $100 million or more for state, local, and tribal governments in the aggregate, or by the private sector in any one year. The following discussion addresses each CFR part individually to identify Federal mandates.

25 CFR Part 15

Most amendments to part 15 address the internal processes of the BIA (or tribe that has compacted or contracted to fulfill probate functions) in compiling probate files.

- Part 15 contains a mandate for tribal governments to provide information when necessary to complete a probate file. This provision is aimed at requiring tribes to provide information that is already readily available to them, such as family history data.

- Part 15 also contains a mandate for the public, presumably someone closely associated with the decedent, to provide either a death certificate or other information regarding the death.

Subsection (h) of the procedural requirements (Paperwork Reduction Act) of this preamble states the expected increase in cost burden on tribal governments of these mandates, which is minimal. The opportunity for tribes to adopt their own tribal probate codes is voluntary and does not qualify as a Federal mandate.

25 CFR Part 150

The revised part 150 clarifies LTRO processes, services, and products. This part requires persons requesting LTRO services and products to provide certain information to allow the LTRO to identify the property for which the service or product is being requested. There is no mandate to obtain LTRO products or services, so the requirement to provide information in support of a request for products and services is not a Federal mandate.

25 CFR Part 152

Amendments to part 152 provide tribes and individual Indians with opportunities to convey and consolidate their interests in trust or restricted land. The opportunities to convey land interests are essentially a voluntary Federal program. Therefore, the requirement does not equate to a Federal mandate.

Part 152 requires applicants to include certain information in applications for acquisitions and conveyances that are available from the LTRO. Items required under part 152 that may be available from the LTRO include:

- Maps.
- Legal description of the land.
- Title status of other interests.
- Location of roads and rights of way.
- Location of the land with respect to other lands in which the applicant has a trust interest.

However, these items are available from sources other than LTRO, so these requirements do not require applicants to obtain products from the LTRO, and therefore do not translate into Federal mandates.

25 CFR Part 179

Amendments to part 179 do not impose any duties on persons outside the Department of the Interior.

43 CFR Parts 4 and 30

Amendments to 43 CFR part 4 (including those incorporated into the new 43 CFR part 30), related to adjudication of probate estates, clarify the process for renouncing an interest and allow consolidation agreements and purchases at probate. These opportunities are voluntary. The remainder of the amendments address OHA adjudication of probate estates and appeals. These amendments do not impose any Federal mandates on individual Indians, tribes, or others outside the Department of the Interior.

New 25 CFR Part 18 (Tribal Probate Codes)

The new CFR part addressing tribal probate codes implements statutory authority for preparing a tribal probate code and statutory requirements for Secretarial approval of tribal probate codes. Preparation of a tribal probate code is voluntary; therefore, this regulation does not impose any Federal mandates on tribes.

Section 205 of the UMRA requires the agency to identify and consider a reasonable number of regulatory alternatives to the rule and adopt the least costly, most cost-effective, or least burdensome alternative that achieves the objectives of the rule. The Department has determined that alternatives to this regulation are limited by practicality and feasibility, among other concerns, given that this regulation is the result of negotiated working group recommendations working within the confines of statutory and judicial mandates. For this reason, the primary alternative the Department examined was the baseline (i.e., the current CFR part or the absence of regulatory provisions, as appropriate). With respect to each proposed CFR part, the Department determined that the proposed language meets the objectives of the proposed rule.

Section 203 of the UMRA requires the agency to develop a small government agency plan before establishing any regulatory requirements that may significantly or uniquely affect small governments, including tribal governments. The small government agency plan must include procedures for notifying potentially affected small governments, providing officials of affected small governments with the opportunity for meaningful and timely input in the development of regulatory proposals with significant Federal intergovernmental mandates, and informing, educating, and advising small governments on compliance with the regulatory requirements. The Department has been operating under tribal consultation procedures that equate to a small government agency plan. The Department has developed these regulations in accordance with consultation procedures for notifying tribes, providing tribes with the opportunity for meaningful and timely input on the development of the regulation, and continues to inform, educate, and advise tribes on the contents of the regulation.

E. Governmental Actions and Interference With Constitutionally Protected Property Rights (Executive Order 12630)

This proposed rule does not have significant "takings" implications. A taking occurs when private property is taken for public use without just compensation or without due process of law. The proposed rule includes a few instances where property may be considered "taken;" however, just compensation is granted in each case. For example, 25 CFR part 152 allows a tribe to acquire land into trust status with the consent of only 50% of landowners, but must compensate all owners for their interests. Additionally, individual owners may preempt the tribe's right to purchase under certain circumstances. Additionally, for a consolidation by sale, the Secretary will seek only the consent of the tribe and of those owners who maintained a bona fide residence on the parcel or operated a bona fide farm, ranch or other business on the parcel for the preceding three years. Additional consent is required where any individual owner's undivided interest is worth more than $1,500 (i.e., consent of owners of at least 50% of the undivided ownership interest in the parcel). In each of these cases, even if an owner does not consent, the owner is provided with just compensation. The only other provisions of the proposed rule that may raise a question as to takings are those related to procedures for dealing with heirs or landowners whose whereabouts are unknown. However, in each of these cases, the proposed rule establishes the procedure to ensure that each individual whose whereabouts are unknown is afforded due process of law before being deprived of any specific real property interest.

F. Federalism (Executive Order 13132)

Executive Order 13132, entitled "Federalism" (64 FR 43255, August 10, 1999), establishes certain requirements for Federal agencies issuing regulations, among other agency documents, that have "Federal implications." A regulation has "Federal implications" when it has "substantial direct effects on the states, on the relationship between the national government and the states, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government." Section 6 of the Executive Order prohibits any agency from issuing a regulation that has Federal implications, imposes substantial direct compliance costs on state and local governments, and is not required by statute. Such a regulation may be issued only if the Federal Government provides the funds necessary to pay the direct compliance costs incurred by state and local governments, or the agency consults with state and local officials early in the process of developing the proposed regulation. Further, a Federal agency may issue a regulation that has federalism implications and preempts state law only if the agency consults with state and local officials early in the process of developing the proposed regulation.

This proposed rule does not have federalism implications because it pertains solely to Federal-tribal relations and will not interfere with the roles, rights, and responsibilities of the States. The proposed rule primarily provides means for improving the trust relationship between the Department and individual Indians by allowing the Department to better serve beneficiaries' interests. Additionally, the Federal government and the tribes have a government-to-government relationship that is independent of and does not affect the Federal government's relationship to the states or the balance of power and responsibilities among various levels of government. Therefore, in accordance with Executive Order 13132, it is determined that this proposed rule will not have sufficient federalism implications to warrant the preparation of a federalism assessment.

G. Civil Justice Reform (Executive Order 12988)

Executive Order 12988 (61 FR 4729, February 7, 1996), section 3(a), requires Federal agencies to adhere to the following requirements: (1) Eliminate drafting errors and ambiguity; (2) write regulations to minimize litigation; (3) provide a clear legal standard for effective conduct rather than a general standard and promote simplification and burden reduction. Section 3(b) specifically requires that executive agencies make every reasonable effort to ensure that the regulations: (1) Clearly specify any preemptive effect; (2) clearly specify any effect on existing Federal law or regulation; (3) provide a clear legal standard for affecting conduct while promoting simplification and burden reduction; (4) specify the retroactive effect, if any; (5) adequately define key terms; and (6) address other important issues clearly affecting clarity and general draftsmanship under any guidelines issued by the Attorney General. Section 3(c) of the Executive Order 12988 requires agencies to review regulations in light of the applicable standards in sections 3(a) and 3(b) to determine whether they are met or whether it is unreasonable to meet one or more of them.

The Department has determined that this proposed rule will not unduly burden the judicial system. Significant portions of the proposed rule will ensure that the judicial system is not overly burdened through the establishment of an administrative appeal process. For example, amendments to 43 CFR part 4, which describes administrative processes for challenging the outcome of a probate proceeding, will streamline the probate adjudication process. Additionally, the Department has determined that the proposed rule meets the applicable standards provided in sections 3(a) and 3(b) of Executive Order 12988. The Department has incorporated "plain language" approaches, as described in OMB's Writing User-Friendly Topics referred to in the Federal Register Document Drafting Handbook. Department attorneys provided input throughout the development and drafting of these regulations to provide clear legal standards, specify preemptive effects, specify the effect on existing Federal laws and regulations, and otherwise minimize the likelihood that litigation will result from an ambiguity in the regulations.

H. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act (PRA), 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., prohibits a Federal agency from conducting or sponsoring a collection of information that requires OMB approval, unless such approval has been obtained and the collection request displays a currently valid OMB control number. Nor is any person required to respond to an information collection request that has not complied with the PRA. In accordance with 44 U.S.C. 3507(d), BIA has submitted the information collection and recordkeeping requirements of this proposed rule to OMB for review and approval. Four CFR parts being proposed today contain information collection requests: 25 CFR parts 15, 18, 150 and 152. The following tables, by part, describe the information collection requirements in each section of the proposed rule and any changes from the current rule.

25 CFR Part 15

Title: Probate of Indian Estates, Except for Members of the Five Civilized Tribes.

OMB Control Number: 1076-NEW.

Requested Expiration Date: Three years from the approval date.

Summary: This part contains the procedures that the Secretary of the Interior follows to initiate the probate of the trust estate of a deceased person for whom the Secretary holds an interest as trust or restricted property. The Secretary must perform the information collection requests in this part to obtain the information necessary to compile an accurate and complete probate file. This file will be forwarded to the Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) for disposition. Responses to these information collection requests are required to obtain benefits (e.g., make a claim against a probated estate) in accordance with the Secretary's sole statutory authority to probate estates (see 25 U.S.C. 372).

Bureau Form Number: None.

Frequency of Collection: One per probate.

Description of Respondents: Indians, businesses, and tribal authorities.

Total Annual Responses: 76,655.

Total Annual Burden Hours: 1,037,433.

The following is an explanation of the information collection requirements for 25 CFR part 15.

Section 15.4 What are the requirements for my will?

The proposed rule adds a requirement for a testator and witnesses self-proving a will, codicil, or revocation to file affidavits. The Department has estimated that approximately 1,000 testators will choose to "self-prove" their wills each year and that it will take approximately 0.5 hours to make the affidavit before an official authorized to administer oaths and to attach the affidavit to the will = 500 burden hours. This represents an increase of 500 burden hours due to program change with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Likewise, given that approximately 1,000 testators will choose to "self-prove" their wills each year, approximately 2,000 witnesses will be required to file supporting affidavits at 0.5 hours each = 1,000 burden hours. This represents an increase of 1,000 burden hours due to program change with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 15.104 Does BIA need a death certificate to prepare a probate file?

The proposed rule adds a requirement for persons unable to provide a death certificate to provide as much as they know about the deceased, including: The state, city, reservation, location, date, and cause of death, the last known address of the deceased, and names and addresses of others who may have information about the deceased. If no death certificate exists, they must provide this information in an affidavit. This information will ensure that BIA has the information it needs regarding the identity of the deceased to collect documents for the probate file. The requirement already existed to provide a death certificate or, when unable to provide a death certificate because none existed, newspaper articles, obituary, or death notices and a church or court record.

The Department estimates that preparing the affidavit in lieu of providing a death certificate will impose an additional 1 hour burden per response to comply with this section. The existing estimated burden for locating and providing the death certificate is 4 hours per response. Assuming a respondent provides an affidavit in lieu of a death certificate only after spending the 4 hours searching unsuccessfully for the death certificate, 5 total burden hours per response are required to comply with this section. Assuming approximately 5,850 probates per year, the total burden will be 5,850 responses × 5 hours per response = 29,250 burden hours. This represents an increase of 5,850 hours due to a programmatic change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 15.105 What other documents does BIA need to prepare a probate file?

This section lists the items that BIA needs to prepare a probate file. The decedent's family and other knowledgeable members of the public are the most likely respondents for this information. The proposed rule adds several items of information that must be included in the probate file. These additional items are: (1) Adoption and guardianship papers concerning decedent's potential heirs or beneficiaries; (2) orders requiring payment of spousal support; (3) identification of person or entity to whom an interest is renounced; (4) court judgments regarding creditor claims; and (5) place of enrollment and tribal enrollment or census number of the decedent and potential heirs and beneficiaries.

The Department estimates that providing these documents will add approximately 1.25 hours to each response. Assuming 21,235 respondents annually × 45.5 hours to complete this section = 966,192.5 burden hours. This is an increase of approximately 26,543.75 hours due to a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 15.201 Can I get funds from the decedent's IIM account for funeral services?

There has been no change to the information collection requirements in this section. The Department estimates that there will be one request for funeral expenses per each of the estimated 5,850 probates per year, at an estimated 2 hours per response = 11,700 burden hours, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 15.202 If the decedent owed me money, how do I file a claim against the estate?

The proposed rule adds a requirement that creditors provide information on their claims. Specifically, the rule requires creditors to file with the Secretary an affidavit and an itemized statement of the debt, including copies of any documents (such as signed notes, mortgages, account records, billing records, and journal entries) necessary to prove the indebtedness.

The Department estimates that, on average, approximately 6 creditor claims per probate estate will be filed and that it will take creditors approximately 0.5 hours to provide this information. The most recent Paperwork Reduction Act submission purported to assume that 6 claims per probate estate would be filed, but at 5,850 probates per year, the previous assumption of 127,410 respondents appears to be erroneous. Assuming 35,100 responses (6 claims per probate estate × 5,850 probate estates), the Department estimates the burden hours = 35,100 responses × 0.5 = 17,550 burden hours. This is a decrease of approximately 46,155 hours due to a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

The proposed rule also adds a requirement for the person filing a claim against the estate to file an affidavit. The Department has determined that this does not qualify as "information" under 5 CFR 1320.3(h)(1) because it entails no burden other than that necessary to identify the claimant, the date, the claimant's address, and the nature of the instrument as a claim against the estate.

Section 15.403 What happens after the probate decision is made?

This section provides that a request for de novo review may be filed within 30 days of a probate decision. The information collection requirements that had been included in this section have been moved to 43 CFR 4, but are exempt under 5 CFR 1320.4(a)(2) because they relate to the conduct of administrative actions against specific individuals. Additionally, all that is required is the filing of a notice of appeal. This represents a decrease of 53,088 hours due to a program change.

Section 15.505 What information must tribes provide BIA to complete the probate file?

This new section requires tribes to provide any information the Secretary requires to complete the probate file, such as enrollment or family data. The information required by the Secretary will include documents that the tribe should have readily available. We assumed that, of the 5,850 probate cases, at least one decedent would come from each of the 562 Federally recognized tribes. On average, a tribe will have to provide information for approximately 10 of the 5,850 probate cases per year. We estimate that each tribe will require 2 hours to assist in completing the probate file × 10 responses annually × 562 Federal recognized tribes = 11,240 hours to ensure completion of probate files. This is a new requirement, which incorporates 11,240 hours as a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

25 CFR Part 18

Title: Tribal Probate Codes.
OMB Control Number: 1076-NEW.
Requested Expiration Date: Three years from the approval date.
Summary: This part contains the procedures that the Secretary of the Interior follows to review and approve tribal probate codes and amendments to tribal probate codes. This part also explains the procedure the tribe must follow to begin the approval process for a tribal probate code or amendment to the code, as well as dates on when the tribal probate code becomes effective.

Bureau Form Number: None.
Frequency of Collection: On occasion.
Description of Respondents: Tribal authorities.
Total Annual Responses: 100.
Total Annual Burden Hours: 50.
 The following is an explanation of the information collection requirements for 25 CFR part 18.
 Section 18.4 How does a tribe request approval for a probate code?
 The proposed rule adds a requirement for a tribe enacting a new tribal probate code or amending an existing tribal probate code to submit the code or amendment to the Secretary or approval. The Department has estimated that, on average, approximately 100 tribes will submit new codes or amend their existing codes each year, and that it will take approximately 0.5 hours to submit the code or amendment to the Secretary = 50 burden hours. This represents an increase of 50 burden hours due to program change with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

25 CFR Part 150

Title: Indian Land Record of Title.
OMB Control Number: 1076-NEW.
Summary: This part establishes the Land Title and Records Office (LTRO) as the official record of land records and title instruments affecting Indian land. The LTRO protects ownership interests in trust and restricted Indian land by recording and maintaining title documents and providing services and products to Indians, tribes, and individuals. The proposed part 150 replaces the existing part in its entirety to provide clarification of LTRO's procedures and increase the ability of the LTRO to provide services and products to Indians, tribes, and the public. The LTRO provides access to information in the Indian Land Record of Title to members of the public, except in those instances where access would violate law or policy restricting access to such records.

Bureau Form Number: N/A.
Frequency of Collection: One per Indian, tribal authority, business or other non-profit, Federal government, or other member of the public.

Description of Respondents: Indians, tribal authorities, businesses or other non-profits, Federal government, and other members of the public.

Total Annual Responses: 12,686.

Total Annual Burden Hours: 12,696.

The following is an explanation of the information collection requirements for 25 CFR part 150 and any changes from the current rule.

Total Non-Hour Burden: $907,795.

Section 150.208 How do I correct an error or omission in a title instrument or LTRO product or service?

Section 150.208 requires persons who discover an error or omission in an LTRO record to provide the LTRO with: (1) a written description of the error or omission; and (2) any supporting documentation.

The Department estimates that a minimal number of persons and entities requesting services and products from LTRO each year will identify an error or omission in an LTRO record. Most errors and omissions are identified through an in-house quality assurance process wherein the agency filing the document with the LTRO reviews the document to identify and address errors and omissions. The Department also estimates that it will take approximately 2 hours to write a statement describing the error or omission and research, copy, and provide either via mail or in person any documentation supporting the claim that an error or omission exists.

Burden hours = 10 persons and entities identifying errors or omissions per year \times 2 hours = 20 burden hours. The total burden costs based on a $18.52/hour cost estimate multiplied by the total hourly burden per year = $370.40. This represents an adjustment to account for a previously unidentified information collection request burden, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 150.302(b) How do I order services and products from the LTRO?

The proposed revisions to part 150 provided in subsection (b) of this section include a requirement for persons requesting a product or service from the LTRO to identify the property in which they are interested by providing one of the following: (1) A legal description of the property; (2) an identification number for the tract; or (3) the identification number of the owner of the tract. The provision does not require that this information be provided in any specific form. The anticipated respondents include individuals, tribes, governmental agencies, and oil, gas, and title abstract companies.

Each of the LTRO's products and services is provided with respect to a specific tract or tracts or property. In nearly all cases, the Bureau of Indian Affairs or the tribal agency requests a service or product from the LTRO on behalf of the individual or entity. These estimates include agency requests on behalf of the member of the public.

The Department estimates that 6,338 persons or entities request services and products from LTRO approximately 2 times each year, for a total of 12,686 requests. Persons who own an interest in the land for which they are requesting a service or product will usually have a legal description or identification number readily available. For example, most new heirs will have a legal description of the property in which they are interested from the inventory of the probated estate. If the person received the property by deed, then the agency would have provided the person with a deed. However, for persons who are not co-owners in the property, this information may be more difficult to obtain; therefore, the Department estimates that the person or entity will be unable to provide this information for approximately half of the total requests for LTRO products or services each year. (See section 150.302(c), which provides applicants with the option of providing alternate information). For this reason, the Department estimates that 3,169 persons or entities (one half of the total 6,338 respondents) will request services and products from LTRO approximately 2 times per year and provide the information requested in this section, rather than provide the alternate information permitted by section 150.302(b), for a total of 6,338 responses. The Department is using 1 hour as an average baseline estimate for the time it will take to obtain information necessary to identify the tract of property for which they are requesting the product or service and provide that information to the LTRO either by mail or in person. This average incorporates the longer time (generally 4–8 hours) to survey to obtain an initial legal description, as well as the shorter time (0.5 hours) it takes to obtain the identification number or other identifying information for instruments that have already been recorded.

Burden hours therefore equal 6,338 requests (3,169 persons or entities requesting products or services 2 times a year) \times 1 hour per request = 6,338 burden hours. The total burden costs based on a $18.52/hour cost estimate multiplied by the total hourly burden per year = $117,380. This represents an adjustment to account for a previously unidentified information collection request burden, with no annualized startup costs. Operations and maintenance costs in the form of fees are estimated to be $453,897.50 (one half of the total fees $907,795).

Section 150.302(c) How do I order services and products from the LTRO?

The proposed revisions to part 150 provided in subsection (c) of this section include a requirement for persons requesting LTRO products or services to provide alternate information to identify the property if they are unable to provide the information listed in section 150.302(b). Section 150.302(c) allows the applicant to submit any other information that the LTRO may use to identify an owner of the tract of land, including but not limited to: name and tribal affiliation of an owner, the recording number of the instrument, or an allotment number.

Because this information is alternate information, the Department estimates that of the estimated 6,338 persons and entities requesting services and products from the LTRO 2 times each year, 3,169 will be unable to provide the information required by section 150.302(b), and therefore submit the information in section 150.302(c). The Department also estimates that it will take approximately 1 hour to obtain and provide information necessary to identify the tract of property for which they are requesting the product or service. Burden hours = 3,169 requests (3,169 persons and entities \times 2 times per year) \times 1 hour = 6,338 burden hours. The total burden costs based on a $18.52/hour cost estimate multiplied by the total hourly burden per year = $117,380. This represents an adjustment to account for a previously unidentified information collection request burden, with no annualized startup costs. Operations and maintenance costs in the form of fees are estimated to be $453,897.50 (one half of the total fees $907,795).

25 CFR Part 152

Title: Conveyances of Trust or Restricted Land; Removal of Trust or Restricted Status.

OMB Control Number: 1076-NEW.

Summary: This part contains the procedures that the Secretary of the Interior follows to review and approve of conveyances of Indian trust and restricted land and removal of trust and restricted status from Indian land. The Secretary must perform the information collection requests in this part to obtain the information necessary to complete the requested transaction. An "Application for Consolidation by Sale" form must be submitted to apply for consolidations by sale. Responses to these information collection requests are required to obtain benefits (e.g., complete the requested transaction).

Bureau Form Number: There is a form, but no number.

Frequency of Collection: Occasional.

Description of Respondents: Indians and tribal authorities.

Total Annual Responses: 1,250.

Total Annual Burden Hours: 2,103.

The following is an explanation of the information collection requirements for 25 CFR part 152 and any changes from the current rule.

Section 152.3 Will the Secretary provide ownership information?

This section provides that certain persons, listed in section 152.4, may request the Land Title and Records Office (LTRO) to provide the names and mailing addresses of owners of a parcel of trust or restricted lands, the location of the parcel, and the percentage of undivided interest owned by each individual by providing a written request containing:

- A legal description or other information allowing the parcel to be identified; and
- A description of how the applicant meets the requirements of 152.4 (i.e., that the applicant is an owner of a parcel of trust or restricted land on the same reservation, the tribe that exercises jurisdiction over the parcel, a person eligible for membership in the tribe that exercises jurisdiction over the parcel, or a person or entity that is leasing, using, consolidating—or applying to lease, use, or consolidate trust or consolidated lands on that reservation).

The Department estimates that 200 persons and tribes each year will request the above LTRO information and that it will take approximately 0.5 hours to compile and provide the information and draft and provide the written request.

Burden hours = 200 persons and tribes requesting LTRO information × 0.5 hours = 100 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $1,500. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.102 What must a land consolidation plan include?

A tribal consolidation plan is a plan for eliminating fractionation and/or consolidating tribal land holdings, that specifies what land or interests are to be conveyed and what land or interests are to be purchased with the proceeds of the sale. Under section 152.105, in order for the Secretary to take action on the plan, the tribe must submit the plan to the Secretary for approval. The Department estimates that 50 tribes will prepare a consolidation plan each year, and that it will take 5 hours for each tribe to prepare the plan.

Burden hours = 50 tribes × 5 hours = 250 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $3,750. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.105 How does a tribe receive approval for a sale or exchange under a land consolidation plan?

This section requires a tribe requesting a sale or exchange pursuant to an approved tribal land consolidation plan to submit a tribal resolution to the Secretary. Tribes prepare tribal resolutions as a usual and customary business practice. However, the following estimates capture how long it would take the tribe to copy and provide the resolution to the Department. The Department estimates that, each year, 50 tribes with consolidation plans will request an average of 2 sales or exchanges, and that it will take 0.60 hours to provide a tribal resolution in support of each sale or exchange.

Burden hours = 50 tribes × 2 sales and exchanges × 0.60 hours = 60 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $900. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.107 In the absence of an approved land consolidation plan, how does a tribe get approval for an exchange of tribal land?

This section requires a tribe requesting a sale or exchange in the absence of an approved tribal land consolidation plan to submit a tribal resolution to the Secretary. The Department estimates that, each year, 100 tribes without consolidation plans will request an average of 1 sale or exchange, and that it will take 0.60 hours to provide a tribal resolution in support of each sale or exchange.

Burden hours = 100 tribes × 1 sale or exchange × 0.60 hours = 60 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $900. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.206 How does an owner initiate a negotiated sale, gift, or exchange?

This section requires an owner to submit to the Secretary a written request for negotiated sale, gift, or exchange containing various items of information, including: a description of the land, the grantee and his or her tribal affiliation, any limitations known by the grantor of the right to convey, any intention to reserve rights to the land, whether the owner waives his right to fair market value, and the terms of the sale, gift, or exchange. The Department estimates that 200 tribal and individual Indian owners will request a negotiated sale, gift, or exchange each year, at an average of one request per person, and that it will take 4.2 hours to make a request in compliance with this section.

Burden hours = 200 tribes/individual Indian owners \times average of 1 request per person \times 4.2 hours = 840 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $12,600. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.217 When can a co-owner acquire an interest previously acquired on behalf of a tribe?

Subsection (b) of this section provides that a co-owner may request notification when a tribe initially acquires interest in a given tract under the Indian Land Consolidation Program. The response to this request will facilitate the owner's ability to exercise the purchase option. The Department estimates that 50 owners will request notification each year and that it will take 0.25 hours to provide the request and contact information to allow the Department to notify the co-owner when appropriate.

Burden hours = 50 co-owners who will request notification \times 1 request per co-owner \times 0.25 hours = 12.5 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $188 (rounded up from $187.5). This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.219 How does a transaction affect collection of construction costs for irrigation projects?

Subsection (b) of this section provides that if land is conveyed in fee, the person acquiring the land in fee must enter into an agreement to pay the pro rata share of the construction project chargeable to the land, all construction costs that accrue in the future, and all future charges assessable to the land based on the annual cost of operations and maintenance of the irrigation system. The Department estimates that 200 persons will acquire trust or restricted land in fee and that it will take 1 hour to enter into the required agreement.

Burden hours = 200 persons acquiring land in fee status \times 1 request per person \times 1 hour = 200 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $3,000. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.303 How does a tribe apply for a parcel purchase?

This section requires tribes who want to initiate a tribal parcel purchase to submit an application including various items of information, including: an appraisal which establishes the fair market value of the parcel as of the date the application is filed; a certified title report and/or consent forms from the owners, reflecting that the applicant has either acquired at least 50% of the trust or restricted interests in the parcel or obtained the consent of the owners of at least 50% of such interests; and a deposit of the purchase funds needed to compensate the owners of all of the outstanding trust or restricted interests in the parcel, based on the applicant's appraisal. The Department estimates that 50 tribes each year will apply for a tribal parcel purchase and that it will take, on average, approximately 2 hours for each to provide the necessary applicant and tract information. The remaining components of the application are provided by either the Bureau of Indian Affairs or the Office of the Special Trustee for American Indians.

Burden hours = 50 tribes \times 1 application per tribe \times 2 hours = 100 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $1,500. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.403 How do I apply to consolidate a parcel by sale?

This section allows eligible bidders to apply to the Secretary for approval on the Bureau form, "Application for Consolidation by Sale," to consolidate interests in a highly fractionated parcel by selling interests to one owner. The Department estimates that 100 eligible bidders will apply for a consolidation by sale each year, at an average of one application per eligible bidder, and that it will take 0.5 hours to prepare the application for consolidation by sale.

Burden hours = 100 eligible bidders \times 1 application per eligible bidder \times 0.5 hours = 50 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $750. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.412 How does a tribe reserve its right to match the highest bid?

This section allows tribes to match the highest bid from a non-member of the tribe by submitting a copy of the tribal law or resolution to the Secretary. The Department estimates that 50 tribes will request the opportunity to match the highest bid to buy property, at an average of one request per tribe, each year, and that it will take 0.60 hours to prepare the resolution in support of the request.

Burden hours = 50 tribes \times 1 request per tribe \times 0.6 hours = 30 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $450. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.503 How can an owner initiate a partition action?

This section allows owners of fractional interests in a parcel to apply to the Secretary for partition of the parcel in order to consolidate interests in a smaller parcel. The application for partition must contain the legal descriptions, appraisals, and ownerships of the tract to be partitioned with smaller resulting tracts. The Department estimates that 50 owners each year will submit an application for partition, at an average of one application per owner, and that, on average, it takes approximately 2 hours to provide the necessary applicant and tract information. The Bureau of Indian Affairs provides the remaining information necessary for the transaction, including the legal description and the owners of the tract, while the Office of Appraisal Services provides the appraisal.

Burden hours = 50 tribes \times 1 application per tribe \times 2 hours = 100 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $1,500. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Section 152.602 How do owners submit an application for approval of a mortgage or deed of trust?

This section allows the owner of the proposed mortgagee or beneficiary to submit an application for approval of a mortgage or deed of trust containing the executed mortgage or deed of trust, the promissory note, other documents regarding remedy in the case of default, an appraisal, the loan application, a credit report, title reports, and any necessary environmental or historic preservation documentation. The Department estimates that 100 owners will request a mortgage or deed of trust, at an average of one request per owner, and that it will take approximately 3 hours to complete the application.

 Burden hours = 100 owners × 1 application per owner × 3 hours = 300 total burden hours, at $15/hour for a cost to the public of $4,500. This represents a program change, with no annualized startup, or operations and maintenance costs.

Please also send a copy of your comments to BIA at the location specified under the heading ADDRESSES.

I. National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)

The National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) requires Federal agencies to perform an environmental assessment or environmental impact statement for all "major Federal actions." This rule does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment. An environmental assessment is not required because any environmental effects of this rule are too broad, speculative, or conjectural to lend themselves to meaningful analysis. Further, the Federal actions under the proposed rule (e.g., approval or disapproval of leases of Indian lands), where they qualify as "major Federal actions," will be subject to the NEPA process at the time of the action itself, either collectively or case-by-case.

J. Government-to-Government Relationships With Tribes (Executive Order 13175)

In accordance with the President's memorandum of April 29, 1994, "Government-to-Government Relations with Native American Tribal Governments," Executive Order 13175 (59 FR 22951, November 6, 2000) and 512 DM2, we have evaluated the potential effects on Federally recognized Indian tribes and Indian trust assets and have identified potential effects. The Department has engaged tribal government representatives in developing the Fiduciary Trust Model, which served as the basis for this rulemaking, has provided tribal government representatives with advance copies of this proposed rule, and provides additional notice to tribal government through this Federal Register notice. Subsequently, the Department will follow Departmental protocols for consulting with tribal governments on this proposed rule. Specifically, the Department is planning an additional three consultation meetings to exchange information with tribes on the proposed rule and potential impacts, and plans to carefully review comments received by tribal government officials. These actions enable tribal officials and the affected tribal constituency throughout Indian country to have meaningful and timely input in the development of the final rule, while reinforcing positive intergovernmental relations with tribal governments.

K. Energy Effects (Executive Order 13211)

Executive Order 13211 addresses regulations that significantly affect energy supply, distribution, and use. The Executive Order requires agencies to prepare Statements of Energy Effects when undertaking certain actions. In accordance with this Executive Order, this rule does not have a significant effect on the nation's energy supply, distribution, or use. The proposed rule is restricted to addressing assets held in trust or restricted status for individual Indians or tribes.

§ 15.11 How does the probate process work?

The basic steps of the probate process are:

(a) We find out about a person's death (see subpart B of this part for details);

(b) We prepare a probate file that includes documents sent to the agency (see subpart C of this part for details);

(c) We refer the completed probate file to OHA for assignment to a judge or ADM (see subpart D of this part for details); and

(d) The judge or ADM decides how to distribute any trust or restricted land and/or trust personalty, and we make the distribution (see subpart D of this part for details).

(a) This section applies if an interested party or BIA:

(1) Learns of the death of a person entitled to trust or restricted property; and

(2) Determines that an emergency exists and the assets in the trust estate may be significantly diminished or destroyed before the final decision and order of a judge in a probate case.

(b) The interested party or BIA may:

(1) Request the immediate assignment of a judge or ADM for the probate case;

(2) Transmit or request the transfer of a probate file to OHA containing sufficient information on potential interested parties and documentation concerning the emergency alleged for a judge to consider emergency relief in order to preserve estate assets; and

(3) Request an expedited hearing or consideration of ex parte relief to prevent impending or further loss or destruction of trust assets.

(c) The Superintendent or other authorized representative of BIA is granted the standing necessary to request relief under this section.

(a) Notify us as provided in § 15.103 to assure timely distribution of the estate.

(b) If we find out about the death of a person and if the decedent meets the criteria in § 15.3, we will initiate the process to collect the necessary documentation.

§ 15.102 Who may notify BIA of a death?

Anyone may notify us of a death.

§ 15.103 How do I begin the probate process?

As soon as possible, contact any of the following to inform us of the decedent's death:

- (b) Any BIA agency or regional office;
- (c) The tribe where the decedent was enrolled; or
- (d) The Trust Beneficiary Call Center at (888) 678-6836 ext. 0.

§ 15.104 Does BIA need a death certificate to prepare a probate file?

(b) If the instrument does not satisfy the minimum requirements, the LTRO returns the instrument with an explanation why the instrument was not accepted for recording.

§ 150.205 What are the minimum requirements for recording a title instrument?

The minimum requirements for recording an instrument include:

(a) A legal description of the Indian land;

(b) The signatures of the parties to the instrument;

(c) Proper acknowledgment of the signatures of the parties; and

(d) If required, proper Federal approval, and the approval date and authority of the Federal official.

§ 150.206 What if the LTRO discovers a defect or error in a document?

(a) If the LTRO discovers the error after the instrument is recorded, the LTRO will notify the submitting person of the error and make a notation in the Indian Land Record of Title that an error exists.

(1) Once the interested parties correct the error and the submitting person returns an instrument evidencing the correction to the LTRO, the LTRO will record the instrument in the Indian Land Record of Title.

(2) In any subsequent title examination, the LTRO will rely upon the corrected instrument to determine the title status of the Indian land.

(b) If the LTRO discovers a defect or error in a final probate record after it has been recorded, the LTRO will issue administrative corrections to correct clerical probate errors, or to add omitted property or interest as set forth in 43 CFR 30.126. Other defects or errors will be addressed through the probate process as provided in 43 CFR part 30.

§ 150.207 What if a defect or error in a final probate record cannot be corrected?

If a defect or error in a final probate record cannot be corrected, the LTRO will notify the appropriate deciding official, as provided in 43 CFR 30.126 and 30.127, and make a notation in the Indian Land Record of Title that a possible error exists.

(a) Once the deciding official corrects the error and submits an instrument evidencing the correction to the LTRO, the LTRO will record the instrument in the Indian Land Record of Title.

(b) In any subsequent title examination, the LTRO will rely upon the corrected instrument to determine the title status of the Indian land.

§ 150.208 How do I correct an error or omission in a title instrument or LTRO product or service?

(a) To correct an error or omission, you may submit a written description of the error or omission with any supporting documentation to the approving official or to the LTRO.

(b) After receiving the description of the error, the LTRO will conduct an investigation. If the LTRO determines that there is an error or omission in the product or service, it will correct the product or service.

(1) If there is an error or omission in the information in the Indian Land Record of Title, it will correct the error or omission based upon the image or original copy of the title instrument from which it obtained the information.

(2) If there is an error or omission in the title instrument, it will follow the procedures set forth in §§ 150.206 through 150.208.

§ 150.209 What instruments qualify for recording with the LTRO?

Only title instruments qualify for recording in the Indian Land Record of Title.

§ 150.210 Does the LTRO maintain the original title instruments?

No. The LTRO returns the original instrument to the submitter.

§ 150.211 May I obtain a copy of the title instrument from the LTRO?

Yes. If the Land Titles and Records Office has recorded the information from the title instrument in the Indian Land Record of Title and has made a copy of the title instrument, you may obtain a copy of the title instrument, subject to the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act considerations as described in § 150.3.

§ 150.212 Is there any benefit to obtaining a certified copy of the title?

Yes. If the LTRO certifies a copy of the title instrument, you may use the certified copy in court or elsewhere, the same as the original instrument.

§ 152.3 Will the Secretary provide ownership information?

Yes. We will provide ownership information under part 150 of this chapter to an individual or tribe interested in conveying or acquiring by negotiated sale, gift, or exchange. A request for ownership information must be in writing and must include the legal description or other identifier of the parcel and how the applicant meets the requirements of § 152.4.

§ 152.4 To whom will the Secretary provide ownership information?

Anyone may receive information under part 150 of this chapter. We will provide ownership information to:

(b) An explanation of how the plan will facilitate the elimination of fractionation and/or the consolidation of tribal landholdings; and

(c) An appropriate supporting tribal resolution.

Yes. A land consolidation plan may not authorize land sales or other types of land transactions that are prohibited by the tribe's constitution or other governing document.

§ 152.104 How does the Secretary approve a land consolidation plan?

We may approve the land consolidation plan if it is consistent with the requirements of this subpart. We will take action on the tribe's land consolidation plan (or amended plan) within 120 working days of our receiving a complete plan and supporting tribal resolution.

§ 152.105 How does a tribe receive approval for a sale or exchange under a land consolidation plan?

(a) The tribe must request Secretarial approval for each sale or exchange made under an approved land consolidation plan by submitting a tribal resolution that identifies the land(s) involved and requests Secretarial approval for the sale or exchange.

(b) Upon receiving an appropriate authorizing resolution requesting approval for a sale or exchange, we will:

- (1) Prepare a conveyance instrument; and
 - (2) Determine fair market value.
- (c) We will approve the sale or exchange of land if:

- (1) The land being sold or exchanged is identified for conveyance in an approved land consolidation plan; and

- (1) Deposited in a segregated, interest-bearing trust account established and maintained by the Secretary; and
- (2) Used only for the purchase of other lands, as identified in the land consolidation plan.

Exchanges Without a Land Consolidation Plan

§ 152.107 In the absence of an approved land consolidation plan, how does a tribe get approval for an exchange of tribal land?

identifies the lands involved and requests our approval for the exchange.

(b) Upon receiving an appropriate authorizing resolution requesting Secretarial approval, we will:

- (1) Prepare a conveyance instrument or approve a conveyance instrument prepared by a tribe; and
- (2) Determine fair market value of the tribal land to be conveyed and of the land to be acquired in the exchange.

§ 152.108 What criteria will the Secretary use to determine whether to approve an exchange?

We will approve the exchange of land in the absence of an approved land consolidation plan only if:

- (a) The land the tribe is acquiring has a fair market value equal to or greater than that of the land being conveyed, and
- (b) If the land to be acquired is in fee status, the acquisition meets the requirements set forth in part 151 of this chapter.

An owner of trust or restricted land who applies to convey that interest to fee status must notify the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel and provide us with a copy of the notification.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, when the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel receives notice, the tribe:

No. An Indian may convey a fractional interest without the consent of co-owner(s).

§ 152.208 Is tribal consent required to convey an interest in trust or restricted land located within the tribe's jurisdiction?

§ 152.209 Is payment required for a negotiated sale, exchange, or gift?

- (1) The grantee acquires the interest in trust or restricted status; and
- (2) One of the following criteria is met:

- (i) The grantee is an Indian and is the grantor's spouse, lineal ancestor, lineal descendant, sibling, or blood relative; or
- (ii) The interest being conveyed is a fractional interest of 5 percent or less, as reflected in our records as of the date on which the application is filed, and the grantee is an Indian co-owner or the tribe having jurisdiction over the parcel.

(c) If the interest has been conveyed under paragraph (b) of this section, the interest may not be conveyed out of trust or restricted status for 5 years.

§ 152.211 When must the Secretary receive payment for the conveyance of the land?

(a) We must receive any payment, on behalf of the grantor, no later than when the grantor executes the deed, unless:

- (1) The grantor agrees to a deferred payment;
- (2) The purchaser is the Federal Government; or
- (3) The payment is escrowed.

(b) To proceed by a deferred payment under paragraph (a) of this section, we may develop a memorandum of sale, or approve a memorandum of sale developed by the parties to the sale, that includes the following terms:

- (1) A contract for delivery of title upon payment in full of the amount of the agreed payment;
- (2) How revenues will be distributed during the period of the deferred payment;
- (3) Late fees and penalties for failure to comply with the terms of the sale;
- (4) Contract adjustments;
- (5) If the conveyance is to fee status, terms requiring that the purchaser pay not less than 10 percent of the purchase price in advance and terms for the payment of the remaining amount in installments plus interest acceptable to the Secretary and the Indian owner; and

(6) Provisions for default, including a provision that if the purchaser defaults in the first or subsequent payments, all payments, including interest, previously made will be forfeited to the Indian owner(s).

(c) With a deferred payment under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, we will hold the deed executed by the grantor(s). We will approve and deliver the deed only upon full compliance with the terms of sale.

§ 152.212 How does the Secretary decide whether to approve a negotiated sale, gift, or exchange?

We will review the application and may approve a negotiated sale, gift, or exchange if:

(a) It does not increase the number of fractional interests;

(b) There is no evidence of fraud or undue influence, or criminal inducement;

(c) There is no reason to believe the grantor lacks the legal capacity to convey; and

(d) The parcels conveyed and acquired will have access to the parcel as required by law.

§ 152.213 How does the negotiated sale or exchange occur?

(a) The purchaser or grantee must deposit with us any proceeds from a negotiated sale or exchange and we shall deposit the proceeds into the grantor's Individual Indian Money account upon our approval.

(b) The grantor will execute the conveyance document, which must:

(1) Include the date of execution and the land description; and

(2) Comply with any boundary standards established by the Department of the Interior, if the parcel is conveyed in trust.

(c) We must promptly record the conveyance document at the Land Title Records Office.

§ 152.214 When is a negotiated sale, gift, or exchange effective?

(a) A negotiated sale, gift, or exchange is effective when we approve the deed.

(b) If we approve the deed after the grantor dies, the sale, gift, or exchange is effective on the date the grantor signed the deed.

(c) If land is purchased for the tribe under the Indian Land Consolidation Program, title will vest in the tribe on the date the conveyance is approved, subject to the type of lien described in 25 U.S.C. 2213(b).

§ 152.215 How does an Indian Land Consolidation Program lien attach?

A lien in the amount of the purchase price will attach to the income derived from any interest purchased for a tribe under the Indian Land Consolidation Program, until the lien has been satisfied or we remove it. Pending such satisfaction or removal, all transaction documents entered into or approved after the date of attachment must provide for the payment of income directly to us, for deposit in the Acquisition Fund for the Indian Land Consolidation Program.

§ 152.216 How is an Indian Land Consolidation Program lien removed?

(a) In consultation with a tribe, we may remove a lien on income derived from an acquired interest.

(1) The removal may be based on income derived from any interest conveyed to the tribe under the Indian Land Consolidation Program.

(2) The total of liens that we remove in a year may not exceed the total income deposited in the Acquisition Fund for the tribe during that period.

(b) We may remove at any time a lien on income derived from an acquired interest if we make a finding that:

(1) The costs of administering the interest will exceed the projected income to be derived therefrom; or

(2) The amount secured by the lien will not be recovered within a reasonable period of time.

§ 152.217 When can a co-owner acquire an interest previously acquired on behalf of a tribe?

This section applies when a fractional interest has been conveyed to a tribe under the Indian Land Consolidation Program but remains subject to an Indian Land Consolidation Program lien.

(a) Any trust or restricted co-owner of the parcel has an option to purchase the interest upon the payment or pledge to us of the full amount paid for that interest under the following conditions:

(1) The co-owner must purchase all of the acquired interests in the parcel which are subject to a lien;

(2) The co-owner may not remove any interest acquired from trust or restricted status except in carrying out the foreclosure of an approved mortgage in accordance with subpart G of this part; and

(3) The option to purchase will not be available if the tribe already owns any interest in the parcel that is not subject to the lien, unless the tribe consents.

(b) To facilitate exercise of the purchase option, a co-owner may request that we provide notice of any initial acquisition in a given parcel on behalf of a tribe under the Indian Land Consolidation Program. In addition, we will provide notice of subsequent acquisition to the co-owner so long as he or she has previously purchased an interest offered in the same parcel.

§ 152.218 What if there are liens or other encumbrances on the lands to be conveyed?

(a) If there are encumbrances that may transfer with the land, then no further action will be taken.

(b) All financial liens, including collection of construction charges or other restrictions, must be cleared before conveyance.

§ 152.219 How does a transaction affect collection of construction costs for irrigation projects?

(a) If the land will remain in trust or restricted status following the sale, gift or exchange, then collection of all construction costs within Indian irrigation projects is deferred as long it remains in trust or restricted status. However, the following conditions apply:

(1) At the time of sale, we will deduct delinquent operation and maintenance charges from the proceeds of the sale unless the seller makes acceptable arrangements to provide for their payment before approval of the sale; and

(2) We will insert a lien clause covering all unpaid irrigation construction costs, past and future, in the instrument of conveyance issued to purchasers of restricted or trust lands that are under an Indian irrigation project.

(b) If the land is conveyed in fee status, then the person acquiring the land must enter into an agreement to pay:

(1) The pro rata share of the construction of the project chargeable to the land;

(2) All construction costs that accrue in the future; and

(3) All future charges assessable to the land which are based on the annual cost of operation and maintenance of the irrigation system.

Subpart D—Tribal Parcel Purchase§ 152.301 What lands are covered by this subpart?

This subpart applies to all parcels of trust and restricted land, including parcels in which fractional interests are held in fee status.

§ 152.302 What transactions are covered by this subpart?

(a) This subpart authorizes us to convey the fractional interests of all non-consenting owners, including those whose interests are held in fee status, to a tribe, if the tribe:

(1) Owns at least 50 percent of the interests in the parcel; or

(2) Has obtained the consents of the owners of at least 50 percent of ownership interests.

(b) The interests of the non-consenting owners may include the interests of any undetermined heirs or devisees of trust or restricted interests and the interests of any owners whose whereabouts are unknown.

(c) An individual owner in authorized possession of the entire parcel may preempt the tribe's application and succeed to the tribe's right to purchase, under certain conditions as described in § 152.305.

(d) Our authority to approve and implement a parcel purchase under this section by executing the necessary conveyance instrument is not affected or diminished by the existence of a tribal land consolidation plan approved under subpart B of this part.

§ 152.303 How does a tribe apply for a parcel purchase?

(a) A tribe may apply for a parcel purchase when the tribe has either:

(1) Acquired at least 50 percent of the interests in a parcel; or

(2) Obtained the consent of the owners of at least 50 percent of such interests, including interests already owned by the tribe.

(b) An application for parcel purchase must include:

(1) An appraisal prepared in accordance with Uniform Standards for Professional Appraisal Practice that establishes the fair market value of the parcel as of the date the application is filed;

(2) A certified title report or consent forms from the owners, reflecting that the tribe has met the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section; and

(3) A deposit of the purchase funds needed to compensate the owners of all of the non-consenting and non-tribal consenting interests in the parcel, based on the tribe's appraisal.

(c) This paragraph applies when a tribe has acquired at least 50 percent of the interests in a parcel, but is unable to furnish the deposit required by paragraph (b)(3) of this section. Under certain circumstances, we may provide the funds needed to complete the parcel purchase.

§ 152.304 How and when will owners be notified of an application for tribal parcel purchase?

(a) Upon receiving an application for parcel purchase under § 152.303, we must notify any non-consenting owners of the tribe's intent to purchase their interests under this subpart, even if they have previously refused to consent.

(1) The notice must provide the non-consenting owners with copies of the appraisal and advise that the tribe has offered to purchase their interests at fair market value or better, as reflected by the tribe's appraisal.

(2) If the fair market value is adjusted upon review of the appraisal under § 152.306, we must again provide notice of the offer to purchase under paragraph (a) of this section.

(b) We will conduct a reasonable search for any owners whose whereabouts are unknown. We will give notice to owners whose whereabouts are unknown by publication in at least one newspaper of general circulation in the area of the parcel at least 90 days before closing of the purchase.

(c) Any notice given under this section must:

(1) Instruct the owners to submit objections to the appraisal within 90 days from the date of the notice; and

(2) Advise that any owner who has been in authorized possession of the entire parcel for at least 3 years before the tribe's application can purchase the parcel after notifying us of the intent to purchase as required by § 152.305.

§ 152.305 Can an individual owner preempt and succeed a tribe's right to purchase?

(a) An individual owner in actual use and possession of the entire parcel for 3 years before the tribe's purchase application may preempt and succeed to the tribe's right to purchase the interests of other individual owners. To do this, he or she must submit to us a notice of intent to purchase within 90 days of receiving the notice described in § 152.304. The individual owner's notice of intent to purchase must include:

(1) Proof of authorized possession during the requisite 3-year period; and

(2) A deposit of the purchase funds needed to compensate the owners of the remaining or non-purchaser's interests, based on the tribe's appraisal.

(b) We will review the individual owner's notice of intent and determine if the individual owner has been in authorized possession of the entire parcel for the requisite 3-year period.

(1) If the individual owner is found to be qualified, we will refund the deposit made by the tribe and process the application of the owner exercising the option to purchase.

(2) We must then advise the individual owner that:

(3) All of the outstanding individually owned interests in the parcel will be conveyed without further owner consent, based on tribe's original application; and

(4) Any tribally owned interests in the parcel will be conveyed only with the consent of the tribe.

§ 152.306 How and when will the Secretary review an application for parcel purchase?

(a) We will review the appraisal and any objections to it after:

(1) The notice period required by § 152.304(a) ends; and

(2) We determine whether the application is to be processed on behalf of the initiating tribe or any individual owner exercising an option to purchase.

(b) If we do not approve the appraisal, we will establish fair market value and notify the tribe what additional funds are needed to compensate the outstanding owners at fair market value. If we approve the appraisal, we will notify any objecting owner of the right to appeal under Part 2 of this title, before taking any further action on the application.

(c) If it appears that all of the interests in the parcel can be purchased by agreement among the owners, we must withhold action on the application and assist in preparing the conveyance documents needed to affect the parcel purchase by negotiated conveyance. If it appears that some of the interests cannot be purchased by negotiation, we must issue a formal decision on the application and execute the conveyance instrument needed to affect the parcel purchase.

§ 152.307 How and when will the conveyance instrument be executed?

(a) No sooner than 30 days after the exhaustion of any appellant's administrative remedies, we must issue a conveyance order transferring the remaining or non-purchaser's interests in the parcel, subject to any existing liens and encumbrances. The order may include any interests owned by the tribe if:

(1) A qualifying owner has exercised his or her option to purchase; and

(2) The tribe has consented to convey its interest by an appropriate authorizing resolution.

(b) When we issue the conveyance order, we must:

(1) Notify all owners whose interests have been conveyed as required by § 152.304; and

(2) Record the conveyance order in the appropriate Land Titles and Records Office as required by part 150 of this chapter, and in the appropriate county office if interests in fee status are involved.

Subpart E—Consolidation by Sale of Highly Fractionated Parcels § 152.401 What terms do I need to know?

As used in this subpart:

AIPRA means the American Indian Probate Reform Act of 2004.

Consolidation by sale means a procedure by which the ownership of interests in a parcel of highly fractionated land is consolidated by one or more of the eligible bidders' asking the Secretary to sell the parcel.

Bona fide means that an owner of an interest in the subject parcel has, in the case of a residence, maintained it continuously for the preceding 3 years with permission or, in the case of a farm, ranch or other business, operated it on the parcel for the preceding 3 years, in each case under:

(1) A lease or other agreement that has been approved by the Secretary;

(2) An owner management lease under AIPRA; or

(3) Other documented permission.

Eligible bidder means:

(1) The tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel subject to consolidation by sale;

(2) Any person who is a member or eligible to be a member of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel;

(3) Any person who is a member or eligible to be a member of any other tribe if such person already owns an undivided interest in the parcel at the time of the consolidation by sale; or

(4) Any lineal descendant of the original allottee of the parcel who is a member or eligible to be a member of a tribe or, with respect to a parcel located in California that is not within a tribe's reservation or not otherwise subject to a tribe's jurisdiction, who is a member or eligible to be a member of a tribe or who owns a trust or restricted interest in the parcel.

Highly fractionated land means trust or restricted land that has either:

(1) From 50 to 99 co-owners of undivided trust or restricted interests, with no single co-owner who owns an undivided trust or restricted interest in the parcel that is more than 10 percent of the entire undivided ownership of the parcel; or

(2) 100 or more co-owners of undivided trust or restricted interests in the parcel.

§ 152.402 What lands are subject to consolidation by sale?

(a) Consolidation by sale applies to trust and restricted lands, on or off the reservation, that are highly fractionated parcels.

(b) Consolidation by sale will include:

(1) All of the interests in such a parcel, including interests held in fee status; and

(2) Surface and subsurface estates.
 (c) If the surface and subsurface estates have been severed, only the surface estate can be consolidated by sale under this subpart. Subsurface estates that have been severed cannot be consolidated by sale under this subpart.

§ 152.403 How do I apply to consolidate a parcel by sale?

To apply for consolidating a parcel you must:

- (a) Be an eligible bidder; and
- (b) Submit a completed consolidation by sale application form.

§ 152.404 What must the Secretary do before acting on an application for consolidation by sale?

(a) Upon receiving an application, we will decide:

- (1) Whether the parcel is highly fractionated;
- (2) What owner consents are needed and whether they have been obtained;
- (3) Costs of providing the notice;
- (4) If there are owners of interests in the parcel who cannot be identified or located, the procedures for locating owners whose whereabouts are unknown have been followed; and
- (5) The fair market value of the property.

(b) If we determine that a consolidation for sale may proceed, then we will promptly notify the applicant in writing. The notice will include:

- (1) A statement that the application is complete;
- (2) The estimated costs to the applicant for providing notice to the owners of the parcel, including the costs of mailing and publishing the notice, and a statement that the applicant must either pay the costs or furnish a sufficient bond to cover such costs;
- (3) The date by which payment must be made to confirm intent to proceed with the consolidation by sale application; and
- (4) Any other information required to process the application.

§ 152.405 What consents are necessary for a consolidation by sale?

(a) For all parcels, we will work with the applicant to obtain consents of the following owners of interests in the parcel to be consolidated by sale:

- (1) Consent of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel if the tribe owns an undivided interest in the parcel;
- (2) Consent of each owner who has continuously maintained a bona fide residence on the parcel or operated a bona fide farm, ranch, or other business on the parcel for the 3 years before the application.

(b) For a parcel where any individual owner's total undivided interest in the parcel is worth more than $1,500, we will seek additional consents. We will work with the applicant to seek the consent of owner(s) of at least 50 percent of the undivided ownership interest in the parcel.

(1) Parents of minor owners and legal guardians of incompetent owners are considered the owners of their minor children's or ward's interests.

(2) The calculation of the undivided interest will not include the interest of the owner requesting the consolidation.

(c) If necessary to obtain consent of at least 50 percent of interests, and after we have completed a search consistent with § 152.409(b) and (c), we may consent on behalf of:

- (1) Heirs of trust or restricted interests who cannot be determined;
- (2) Minor or incompetent owners who have no parent or legal guardian; or
- (3) Missing owners.

§ 152.406 How will the Secretary notify owners of the consolidation proceeding?

(a) Once we determine that a consolidation by sale may proceed, we will notify all owners of undivided interests in the parcel and the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel. The notice will include:

- (1) A statement that the proceeding to consolidate the parcel of land by sale has been started;
- (2) The legal description of the parcel;
- (3) Each owner's ownership interest in the parcel as determined by the BIA based on current records;
- (4) Fair market value and instructions for making a written request for a copy of the appraisal;
- (5) A statement that the owner may submit written comments on or objections to the proposed consolidation by sale or to the appraisal within 90 days of receiving the notice;
- (6) A statement that the owner must, within the 90-day deadline, comment on or object in writing to the consolidation proceeding or the appraisal in order to receive notice of approval of the appraisal and right to appeal;
- (7) The address for requesting copies of the appraisal and the address for submitting comments or objections to the appraisal or to the consolidation sale proceeding;
- (8) The name and telephone number of the person to contact for information regarding the proceeding, including the time and date of auction of the parcel or for submitting sealed bids;
- (9) Notification that the tribe may exercise its right to match the highest bid on the parcel; and
- (10) Notification that co-owners may have a right to purchase the parcel when the highest bidder has been determined.

(b) The notice must be mailed by certified mail, restricted delivery, to all owners of interests in the parcel at addresses found in our current records.

(c) If the notice is returned undelivered, we will attempt to obtain and use a current address for such owner by a reasonable search of records of:

- (1) Departmental records;
- (2) Local, state, and Federal agencies;
- (3) Land records and phonebooks; and
- (4) The tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel or the tribe of which the noticed owner is a member.

(d) If we are unable to find any owner, then we will publish the notice:

(1) At least two times in a newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties in which the parcel is located or, if the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel publishes a monthly tribal newspaper or newsletter, one time in the tribal newspaper or newsletter and one time in the newspaper of general circulation;

(2) By posting the notice conspicuously in the headquarters or administration building or other tribal building of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel in the most appropriate location for such a posting; and

(3) By publishing notice in any other place or by other means we deem appropriate.

§ 152.407 What action does the Secretary take on comments or objections?

(a) We will consider all written comments and objections received within 90 days of the notice. We may:

- (1) Accept the appraisal if consistent with the Uniform Standards for Professional Appraisal Practice;
- (2) Order a new appraisal; or
- (3) Terminate the sale and notify by certified mail, restricted delivery, the applicant and all currently known owners of interests in the parcel.

(b) If we receive no comments or objections to the consolidation by sale within 90 days of the notice, we will accept the appraisal and proceed with the sale.

§ 152.408 What happens if the Secretary orders a new appraisal?

(a) If we order a new appraisal, where the appraisal results in a lower valuation of the land, we will provide notice of the results of the new appraisal to all owners of interests in the parcel, and where the new appraisal results in a value of the land that is equal to or greater than that of the earlier appraisal, we will provide the results of the new appraisal to the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel and all persons who submitted written comments on or objections to the proposed partition or the appraisal, at addresses found in our current records with a notice including the following information:

(1) The results of the new appraisal;

(2) Notification that the owners can submit written comments on or objections to the proposed consolidation by sale and/or objections to the appraisal within 90 days of receiving the notice;

(3) The address for requesting copies of the appraisal and address for submitting comments or objections to the appraisal and/or consolidation sale proceeding; and

(4) The name and telephone number of the person to contact for information regarding the proceeding, including the time and date of auction of the parcel or for submitting sealed bids.

(b) We will send the notice of the new appraisal by certified mail, restricted delivery, to the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel.

(c) If we accept the appraisal, we will send a notice of acceptance to the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel and to all persons who submitted written comments on or objections to the proposed consolidation or appraisal. The notice will include:

(1) Results of the appraisal, which will set the minimum bid for the consolidation by sale;

(2) Rights of each interest owner to review a copy of the appraisal;

(3) A statement that the land will not be sold for less than the appraised value;

(4) The time and date set for the auction of the parcel, or for submitting sealed bids; and

(5) The owner's right to appeal, to whom the appeal should be submitted, and the owner's burden to submit evidence in support of the appeal.

§ 152.409 How can an owner appeal a consolidation by sale proceeding?

(a) An owner may submit an appeal within 30 days of receiving the notice of a new appraisal under § 152.408. The procedures in part 2 of this chapter do not apply to this process.

(b) Upon receiving the appeal, the deciding official will refer the appraisal issues for a desk review to an appraiser who was not involved in the original appraisal. The appraiser will provide review conclusions to the deciding official within 60 days of the referral. After reviewing the appraiser's review conclusions, the deciding official will decide all appraisal issues in the appeal and also decide issues in the appeal regarding the Secretary's determination to allow a consolidation sale of a particular parcel.

(c) The deciding official decides all issues in an appeal and issues a written decision. A decision issued by the deciding official is final for the Department.

§ 152.410 How will the Secretary notify owners of a sale after appeals have been decided?

After all appeals are final, we will set a time and date for a consolidation sale. The sale will be conducted no sooner than 30 days after we have mailed, via certified mail, restricted delivery, a notice of the sale to those owners providing comments or objections to the Notice of Appraisal and Sale or those person(s) requesting notification of sale and the tribe having jurisdiction over the parcel. In addition, we will publish a notice of sale:

(a) In a newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties in which the parcel is located or a tribal newspaper;

(b) By posting the notice conspicuously in the tribal headquarters or administration building; and

(c) In such other locations and manner as we deem necessary.

§ 152.411 Who may participate in an auction or sealed bid sale?

We will conduct the sale either by public auction or sealed bid as appropriate.

(a) Only eligible bidders may participate in the auction or sealed bid sale.

(b) To participate in a sealed bid sale, a bidder must submit a deposit of 10 percent of the full amount of the bid for the parcel, including for his own ownership interest in the parcel. The value of the bidder's ownership interest will be deducted when the final payment amount is calculated.

§ 152.412 How does a tribe reserve its right to match the highest bid?

Before receiving the notice of sale issued under § 152.415, the tribe must have submitted a copy of the authorizing tribal law or resolution or a letter of a tribal officer authorized by tribal law, stating the tribe's intent to reserve the right to match.

§ 152.413 How will the Secretary determine the successful bidder?

(a) The parcel will be sold to the highest bidder unless certain other purchasers listed in paragraph (b) of this section match the highest bid. The sale price must be at least equal to the final appraised fair market value.

(b) We will determine which entities have a right to match the highest bid. The right to match depends on the following criteria:

(1) If the highest bidder is a member of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel, then he/she may purchase the parcel, unless one of the restrictions in paragraph (c) of this section applies; and

(2) If the highest bidder is a not a member of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel, then the highest bidder may purchase the parcel, unless one of the restrictions in paragraph (d) of this section applies.

(c) A highest bidder who otherwise qualifies under paragraph (b)(1) of this section may not purchase the parcel if either of the following conditions applies:

(1) The owner of the largest interest is a member of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel, chooses to purchase the parcel, and meets each of the following requirements:

(i) The owner had submitted a bid on the parcel at sale at least equaling the fair market value;

(ii) At the time immediately before the sale, the owner's undivided interest in the parcel was greater than that of any other owner and equal to or greater than 20 percent of the entire undivided ownership of the parcel; and

(iii) The owner submits to us, within 3 days of the date of auction or date for submitting sealed bids, a written notice of intent to purchase the parcel; or

(2) If no single owner is identified as eligible to buy the parcel under paragraph (c)(1) of this section, and two or more owners who have equal interests, which combined are greater than any other individual interests in the parcel and constitute at least 20 percent of the entire undivided ownership in the parcel, have entered into a written agreement that identifies which of these owners has the right of purchase.

(d) A highest bidder who otherwise qualifies under paragraph (b)(2) of this section may not purchase the parcel if either of the following conditions applies:

(1) The owner of the largest interest in the parcel at the time of the sale is a member of the tribe with jurisdiction over the parcel and meets each of the following requirements:

(i) The owner had submitted a bid on the parcel at sale at least equaling the fair market value;

(ii) At the time immediately before the sale, the owner's undivided interest in the parcel was greater than that of any other owner and equal to or greater than 20 percent of the entire undivided ownership of the parcel;

(iii) The owner submits a written notice of intent to purchase the parcel to us, within 3 days of the date of auction or the date for submitting sealed bids; and

(iv) The owner tenders the amount of the highest bid within 30 days of the date of auction or submission of sealed bids; or

(2) No single owner is identified under paragraph (d)(1) of this section, then two or more owners who each have identical interests equal to or greater than 20 percent of the interests in the parcel, match the highest bid and have entered into a written agreement that identifies which of these owners has the right to match the highest bid.

(e) If no single owner or group of two or more owners are identified under paragraphs (d)(1) or (d)(2) of this section, and the tribe with jurisdiction has reserved its right under § 152.412 to match the bid of the highest bidder, the tribe may proceed to exercise this right. It may do so by stating its intention to match the bid within 6 business days after the date of auction or for submitting sealed bids.

§ 152.414 What happens if no bid matches the fair market value?

(a) If no bid submitted equals or exceeds the final appraised value, we may either:

(1) Purchase the parcel for its appraised fair market value for the tribe; or

(2) Terminate the consolidation by sale process.

(b) We retain the authority to reschedule the date, place, and time of the sale without providing formal prior notice but will seek to notify interested parties. The sale will be rescheduled as promptly as possible, but no later than 15 days from the date of the original sale.

§ 152.415 When must the highest bidder pay for the purchase?

The highest bidder or the co-owner or tribe that we determined had a right to match or preempt the highest bid must submit payment within 30 days of the auction or the date for submitting sealed bids. If payment is not tendered in 30 days, then the following process will occur:

(a) The next successful bidder identified in § 152.413 will be notified and provided an opportunity to tender payment in 30 days;

(b) If there is no entity identified in § 152.413 that has exercised its right to match or preempt the highest bid, then we will notify the next highest bidder and provide an opportunity to tender payment in 30 days;

(c) If there are no successful bids higher than fair market value, then the Secretary may purchase the parcel or may elect to terminate the consolidation proceeding or reschedule the sale (see § 152.414(b)).

§ 152.416 How will proceeds be distributed?

We will distribute the proceeds of sale of the parcel to the owners of interests in the parcel in proportion to the ownership interest of each owner. We will hold the following proceeds until owners and heirs can be determined:

(a) Proceeds attributable to the sale of interests of owners whose whereabouts are unknown; and

(b) Proceeds of undetermined heirs, or persons whose ownership interests have not been recorded.

§ 152.417 Is Federal financial assistance available to support a bidder's purchase?

We may provide grants and low interest loans to successful bidders at consolidation sales of parcels, but this assistance:

(a) Is limited to 20 percent of the appraised value of the parcel sold; and

(b) Must be applied only toward the purchase price of the parcel sold.

§ 152.418 What title is acquired?

(a) The title is acquired as follows:

(1) In trust, free and clear of any and all title or ownership of all persons or entities whose interest were subject to the sale, except the United States; and

(2) Subject to valid existing rights, such as mortgages, easements, or rights-of-way.

(b) We will execute an appropriate transfer document effecting the sale and recorded in the LTRO.

Subpart F—Partitions in Kind

§ 152.501 What lands are covered by this subpart?

This subpart applies to any parcel of trust or restricted land with more than one owner, irrespective of the number of owners in the parcel. This subpart will not apply to the subsurface interests in a parcel, where those interests have been severed so as to establish separate surface and subsurface ownerships.

§ 152.502 When does this subpart apply?

This subpart applies in cases where the owners have been unable to accomplish a partition in kind by exchange of deeds in accordance with subpart C of this part. It authorizes us to partition trust and restricted land with multiple owners into smaller parcels in which the interests of the owners are unified or consolidated.

(a) If a partition which allocates separate parcels to each of the owners is not feasible, we may implement a partial partition, in which a portion of the parcel remains in multiple ownership.

(b) This subpart does not authorize us to take any other action with respect to land which cannot be partitioned to the benefit of all of the owners.

§ 152.503 How can an owner initiate a partition action?

Any owner of a fractional interest may apply to us for a partition by submitting a partition plan that contains the following information:

(a) Legal descriptions of the parcel to be partitioned and the smaller parcels to be created therefrom, with an accompanying survey if the smaller parcels cannot be described by aliquot parts;

(b) Appraisals of the parcel to be partitioned and the smaller parcels to be created from the parcel; and

(c) Identification of ownership of the parcel to be partitioned and the proposed ownership of the smaller parcels to be created therefrom, with an accompanying title report for the whole parcel.

§ 152.504 How will you notify the applicant's co-owners of an application for partition?

(a) Upon receiving an application for partition under § 152.503, we must notify the owners of the parcel to be partitioned and provide them with copies of the applicant's partition plan. We will take the following steps to notify all owners:

(1) We will make a reasonable search for any owners whose whereabouts are unknown;

(2) After this search, we will send a written notice of the application to all owners whose whereabouts we could determine; and

(3) To notify owners we could not locate, we will publish a notice in newspapers of general circulation in the area of the parcel to be partitioned.

(b) Our notice will instruct the owners to submit comments or objections or alternative partition plans to us, within 90 days of the date that we mail and publish the notice.

(c) We must treat the submission of an alternative partition plan as a new application requiring additional notice and invitations for comment.

§ 152.505 How and when will you review an application?

(a) At the end of the notice period required by § 152.504(c), we must verify the ownership of the parcel to be partitioned, and review the partition plans and any comments.

(1) If it appears that the parcel can be partitioned by agreement among all the owners, we must assist in preparing the conveyance documents needed to effect a partition by exchange of interests.

(2) If it appears that the parcel cannot be partitioned by agreement, we must issue a formal decision on the application(s).

(b) In evaluating an application to partition, we must determine if the parcel can be partitioned equitably among all of the owners. In making that determination, we will consider whether:

(1) After partition, each owner would hold property equal in value to that held before partition, in proportion to the interests of the other owners;

(2) The smaller parcels created by the partition would be economically usable, based upon characteristics such as size, location, access, etc.;

(3) Any owner has a history of using areas within the parcel to be partitioned, that would justify those areas being equitably partitioned and conveyed to that owner; and

(4) The parcel to be partitioned contains any sites of particular cultural, historical, or other significance to more than one owner, that would make it inequitable to partition those sites and convey them to a single owner.

(c) Upon a determination that a parcel cannot be partitioned in an equitable manner, we must notify the applicant of the right to appeal under part 2 of this chapter. Upon a determination that a parcel can be partitioned in an equitable manner, we must notify any owner that objected or submitted an alternative partition plan of his or her right to appeal under part 2 of this chapter, before taking any further action on the application.

§ 152.506 When will you execute the conveyance instruments?

(a) No sooner than 30 days after exhausting any appellant has exhausted his or her administrative remedies, if our determination under § 152.505(c) has been affirmed, we must issue a partition order. The order may include reference to any existing liens and encumbrances.

(b) Upon issuance of the order we will notify all of the affected owners, in the same manner as described in § 152.504. We must then record the partition order and any accompanying survey in the appropriate LTRO, in accordance with part 150 of this chapter.

Subpart G—Mortgages and Deeds of Trust

§ 152.601 What does this subpart do?

This subpart applies to mortgaging of parcels of trust or restricted land owned by individuals, including parcels in which fractional interests are held in fee status.

(a) This subpart explains how we can approve mortgages or deeds of trust executed by individual owners in cases where all of the trust or restricted interests in a parcel are:

(1) Encumbered; and

(2) Subject to foreclosure or sale if there is a default.

(b) This subpart does not apply to any of the following:

(1) Mortgages of fractional interests held in fee status;

(2) Other types of encumbrances that may be executed or approved in order to secure a loan, including assignments of income derived from trust or restricted lands; or

(3) Mortgages or deeds of trust of leasehold or other possessory interests.

§ 152.602 How do owners submit an application for approval of a mortgage or deed of trust?

Only the owner(s) or the proposed mortgagee or beneficiary can submit an application for approval of a mortgage or deed of trust. The application must include:

(a) An executed mortgage or deed of trust to be approved;

(b) The promissory note defining the amount of the loan to be secured and other terms;

(c) Any other documents describing the remedies available to the secured party in the event of a default on the loan;

(d) An appraisal or evaluation furnished by the lender or borrower that establishes the fair market value of the parcel as of the date on which the application for loan was filed;

(e) The loan application and any other description of how the loan proceeds will be used;

(f) Any credit report or credit analysis required, obtained, or prepared by the proposed mortgagee or beneficiary, with a verification of the borrower's income or a description of other means of debt coverage;

(g) Any title reports or title insurance policies required or obtained by the proposed mortgagee or beneficiary; and

(h) Any necessary environmental or historic preservation documentation.

§ 152.603 How will the Secretary review the application?

(a) Within 30 days of receiving a complete application for approval of a mortgage or deed of trust, we must determine whether:

(1) The land to be encumbered has been adequately described and the loan documents have been properly executed;

(2) The loan-to-value ratio is reasonable, based on the evidence of fair market value in the application and the lender's valuation;

(3) The risk of default on the loan is reasonable, based on the evidence of the ability to repay in the application;

(4) All of the owners of trust and restricted interests in the parcel have executed the mortgage or deed of trust, and any necessary consents have been obtained from other lienholders or encumbrancers; and

(5) The remedies available to the mortgagee or beneficiary in the event of a default on the loan, and any rights or remedies available to the tribe having jurisdiction over the parcel in the event of a foreclosure or sale, are clearly defined in the mortgage, deed of trust, or other loan documents.

(b) If we decide not to approve the mortgage or deed of trust, we will notify the parties of their rights to appeal under part 2 of this chapter.

(c) If we decide to approve the mortgage or deed of trust, we must:

(1) Record the approved document in the Land Titles and Records Office in accordance with part 150 of this chapter; and

(2) Request an updated title status report reflecting the recordation.

(d) A decision to approve a mortgage or deed of trust under this subpart is not appealable under part 2 of this chapter and is not considered to be a breach of trust.

§ 152.604 How may the mortgage or deed of trust be enforced?

(a) If an owner defaults on a loan secured by an approved mortgage or deed of trust, the encumbered land is subject to foreclosure or sale in accordance with the terms of the approved document and either:

(1) The laws of the tribe having jurisdiction over the parcel; or

(2) If there are no applicable tribal laws, the laws of the state in which the land is located.

(b) If there is a foreclosure or sale to enforce the terms of an approved mortgage or deed of trust, the United States:

(1) Is not a necessary party; and

(2) Is not required to approve any conveyance arising out of the proceeding.

§ 152.605 Does the land remain in trust as a result of foreclosure or sale?

(a) If the encumbered land is purchased by a tribe or Indian as a result of a foreclosure or sale proceeding, title remains in trust or restricted status.

(b) If the encumbered land is purchased by any other party as a result of a foreclosure or sale proceeding, title will be taken consistent with the laws applicable to that foreclosure or sale proceeding.

§ 152.606 How does the Paperwork Reduction Act affect this part?

The collections of information contained in §§ 152.3, 152.105, 152.107, 152.206, 152.217, 152.219, 152.303, 152.403, 152.412, 152.503, and 152.602 have been approved by the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq. and assigned OMB Control Number 1076–xxxx. § 179.3 Who can hold a life estate?

Any person can hold a life estate subject to the following:

- (a) Any life estate must have no conditions in favor of the grantor or a grantee; and
- (b) If a life estate is granted to, or for the life of, multiple persons, the granting document must establish the share of the estate each person is to receive.

§ 179.4 Who can be the measuring life for a life estate?

Any specific person or persons living at the time we approve the conveyance document or upon death of the decedent may be the measuring life for a life estate.

§ 179.5 Who can be designated as a future interest holder?

Any person may be a future interest holder. However, no future interest subject to conditions in favor of the grantor or a grantee is valid if the conditions cannot be satisfied before either:

- (a) When we approve the conveyance document; or
- (b) When the decedent dies.

§ 179.6 Who can be members of a class?

The members of any class are those persons who can be identified as persons either when we approve the conveyance or upon the death of the decedent.

§ 179.7 How are interest holders determined if the conveyance document or order contains conditions?

(a) If we determine that the conveyance document imposes any condition on an interest in Indian land, we will determine whether the condition is satisfied either:

- (1) When we approve the conveyance document; or
 - (2) When the decedent dies.
- (b) If the condition is established by order of some other authority, we will determine whether the condition is satisfied based upon the order.

(c) It may happen that there are no persons when we approve the conveyance document, or at the death of the decedent, or by the terms of the order. In this case, the future interest that would have vested in those persons passes to the grantor or to the estate of the grantor.

§ 179.8 How are members to be determined if there is an open class?

(a) If a class is designated as a recipient of an interest in a conveyance document, we will:

- (1) Identify the persons who are members of the class when we approve the conveyance document; and
 - (2) Close the class to any additional persons who might otherwise qualify as members.
- (b) If a class is designated as a recipient of an interest during the probate process under 43 CFR part 30, we will:

(1) Identify the persons who are members of the class as of the death of the decedent; and

(2) Close the class to any additional person who might otherwise qualify as members of the class.

(c) We may close any class when we:

- (1) Have received monies attributable to the interests held by the class; and
- (2) Have determined that there is at least one person who can receive the monies.

(d) We may close any open class for any purpose that facilitates identification of beneficiaries and assets of the trust. We may then distribute the trust assets to the beneficiaries.

§ 179.9 What are the privileges of a life tenant?

(a) A life tenant is granted, for the term of the life estate, the right to:

- (1) Possess and use estate assets;
- (2) Receive a share of the principal and income produced by the estate as set forth in § 179.12; and
- (3) Sell the life estate described in the conveyance document or order.

(b) The rights in paragraph (a) of this section apply only in the absence of specific provisions to the contrary in the conveyance document or order.

§ 179.10 What is the life tenant's responsibility to the remainderman?

The provisions of this section apply absent specific provisions to the contrary in the conveyance document or order.

(a) The life tenant has responsibilities to the remainderman as shown on the following table.

If the life estate was created by...	Then...	Except as to...
(1) Probate order before June 20, 2006, and the decedent died before June 20, 2006.	the responsibility of the life tenant to the remainderman is defined by federal law and regulation in effect at the date of the creation of the life estate.	distribution of monies from rents, cash bonus and royalties and valuation of the life estate and remainder as set forth in this part.
(2) Operation of law under 25 U.S.C. 2206 or federally approved tribal probate code approved under 25 U.S.C. 2205.	(i) The life tenant may use the land or structures on the land (including for extraction and production of minerals, oil, gas, and timber) without the remainderman's consent; and (ii) The life tenant must not destroy the estate, commit malicious waste or fail to reasonably manage the land in a manner consistent with long-time use and trust status of the land.	distribution of monies from rents, cash bonuses, and royalties and valuation of the life estate and remainder as set forth in this part.
(3) Conveyance document before the effective date of this part.	the responsibility of the life tenant to the remainderman is defined by federal law and regulation in effect on the date the life estate was created.	distribution of monies from rents, cash bonuses, and royalties and valuation of the life estate and remainder as set forth in this part.
(4) Conveyance document after the effective date of this part	(i) The life tenant may use the land or structures on the land (including for extraction and production of minerals, oil, gas, and timber) without the remainderman's consent; and (ii) The life tenant must not destroy the estate, commit malicious waste, or fail to reasonably manage the land in a manner consistent with long-time use and trust status of the land.

(b) In order to preserve and protect the trust, we must review and make a final determination on any contract involving trust assets, unless the law provides otherwise.

(c) Our authority to consent to the leasing or transfer of Indian land on behalf of the interest holders is not diminished or modified by this section.

§ 179.11 How can a future interest holder stop the life tenant from damaging his or her interest and substantially diminishing its value?

If you are a future interest holder who feels that a life tenant may be damaging the estate, you may ask us to investigate the use of the land. If we find that the life tenant has taken actions not consistent with § 179.10, we may proceed as if the life tenant has trespassed on the property and take action under parts 162 and 212 of this chapter.

§ 179.12 How will the Secretary distribute income and principal between the life tenant and the remainderman?

(a) The Secretary must determine whether:

(1) The Secretary ordered the distribution of the interests in the life estate and remainder in the probate of an estate of a decedent who died on or after June 20, 2006 or the Secretary approved the conveyance document of the interests after the effective date of these regulations;

(2) An order or conveyance document specifies a distribution of proceeds;

(3) The vested remainderman and life tenant have entered into a written agreement approved by the Secretary providing for the distribution of proceeds; or

(4) The life tenant is entitled, by any document or agreement or by application of state law, such as the open mine doctrine, to receive the rents, royalties, and profits attributable to the exploration, extraction or depletion of estate resources.

(b) If the Secretary determines that the conveyance is the result of an order distributing the probate estate of a decedent who died on or after June 20, 2006, or the Secretary approved the conveyance document of the interests after the effective date of these regulations and paragraphs (a)(2) and (3) of this section do not provide otherwise, then the Secretary must distribute all income, principal, and contract bonuses and royalties, to the life tenant until the life estate is terminated.

(c) If the Secretary determines that the conveyance is the result of an order distributing the probate estate of a decedent who died before June 20, 2006, or the Secretary approved the conveyance document before the effective date of this regulation and paragraphs (a)(2), (3), and (4) of this section do not provide otherwise, the Secretary must:

(1) Distribute all rents and profits, as income, to the current life tenant;

(2) Distribute any contract bonus one-half each to the current life tenant and the remainderman;

(3) In the case of mineral contracts, invest the principal, with interest income to be paid the life tenant during the life estate, except in those instances where the administrative cost of investment is disproportionately high, in which case paragraph (e) of this section applies. The principal allocated to the remainderman under this section will be distributed to the remainderman upon termination of the life estate. The life tenant will receive distribution of the principal allocated to the life tenant immediately.

(d) If the Secretary determines that paragraphs (a) (2), (3), or (4) of this section provide otherwise, the Secretary must distribute the income and principal in accordance with those provisions.

(e) In all other instances, the Secretary shall distribute the principal immediately according to the formulas set forth in § 179.13. All proceeds attributable to a contingent remainderman or future interest holder subject to class whose membership is not closed will be invested in an account with disbursement to take place upon determination of the future interest holder or closing of membership of the class. The life tenant will receive distribution of the principal allocated to the life tenant immediately.

§ 179.13 How will the value of a current life estate and remainder be determined?

(a) We will refer to the most current version of Actuarial Table S, Valuation of Annuities, obtained from 26 CFR 20.2031 to determine the value of your life estate or remainder and distribute principal under § 179.12(e).

(b) Table S specifies the share attributable to the life estate and remainder's interest, given the age of the life tenant and an established rate of return. We will periodically review and revise the percent rate of return to be used to determine the share attributable to the interests of the life tenant and the remainderman. The life tenant will receive the balance of the distribution after the remainderman's share has been calculated.

(c) Applying Table S, we will use the following formulae to determine the value of the interests of the life tenant and remainderman:

(1) Value of Remainder = $I * R$, where I is the total value to be distributed and R is the remainder factor obtained from Table S for a given life tenant's age and rate of return; and

(2) Value of Life Estate = $I - \text{Value of remainder}$, where I is the total value to be distributed and the Value of remainder was calculated above.

§ 179.14 How does a life estate terminate?

A life estate terminates upon whichever occurs first:

(a) The death of the person or persons used to measure the duration of the life estate;

(b) The transfer by the life tenant of the interest to the remainderman or grantor; or

(c) The acquisition by the life tenant of all future interests.

§ 179.15 What if I do not want an interest in a life estate?

You may renounce your interest during the probate process before the order is issued or transfer your interest by conveyance document to another person.

§ 179.16 Why do I need to notify the Secretary about the death of a life tenant?

(a) You should notify us of the death of the life tenant or other person used to measure the duration of the life estate to ensure that:

(1) The records properly reflect the present and future interests holders; and

(2) Any proceeds received from these interests are correctly distributed to the holders.

(b) See 25 CFR 15.104 for instructions on how to notify the Secretary of the death.

§ 179.17 How will term estates be treated?

For purposes of distribution of income, cash bonuses, and principal, we will treat term estates in the same manner as a life estate.

A petition for modification may be filed by the superintendent of the agency where the property is located, or by any interested party.

(b) A judge will review the merits of the petition and record of the title from the LTRO upon which the modification is to be based and enter an appropriate decision. If the decision is entered without a formal hearing, the judge must give notice of the action to all parties whose rights are adversely affected, allowing them 30 days in which to show cause why the decision should not then become final.

(c) Where appropriate, the judge may conduct a formal hearing at any stage of the modification proceeding. The hearing must be scheduled and conducted in accordance with the rules of this part. The judge will enter a final

(2) Trust property interests should be removed from the inventory because a deed through which the decedent acquired the property is invalid;

(3) Trust property interests should be added to the inventory because the decedent attempted to acquire additional trust property interests during the decedent's lifetime, and BIA had not, as of the time of death, determined whether to approve the acquisition; and

(4) Trust property interests included in the inventory are improperly described.

§ 30.261 What determinations with regard to a tribal purchase option will a judge make?

(a) In the exercise of probate authority, a judge will determine:

(1) The entitlement of a tribe to purchase a decedent's interests in trust or restricted land under the statutes;

(2) The entitlement of a surviving spouse to reserve a life estate in one-half of the surviving spouse's interests that have been purchased by a tribe; and

(3) The fair market value of such interests, as determined by an appraisal, including the value of any life estate reserved by a surviving spouse.

(b) In making a determination under paragraph (a)(1) of this section, the following issues will be determined by the official tribal roll, which is binding upon the judge:

(1) Enrollment or refusal of the tribe to enroll a specific individual; and
 (2) Specification of blood quantum, where pertinent.

(c) For good cause shown, the judge may stay the probate proceeding to permit an aggrieved party to pursue an enrollment application, grievance, or appeal through the established procedures applicable to the tribe.

§ 30.262 When will BIA furnish a valuation of a decedent's interests?

In all probates, at the earliest possible stage of the proceeding before issuance of a probate decision, BIA must furnish a valuation of the decedent's interests when the record reveals to the agency:

(a) That the decedent owned interests in land located on one or more of the reservations designated in § 30.260; and

(b) That one or more of the probable heirs or devisees who may receive the interests either:

(1) Is not enrolled in the tribe of the reservation where the land is located; or

(2) Does not have the required blood quantum in the tribe to hold the interests against a claim made by the tribe.

(c) The valuation must be made on the basis of the fair market value of the property, including fixed improvements, as of the date of decedent's death.

(d) If there is a surviving spouse whose interests may be subject to the tribal purchase option, the valuation must include the value of a life estate based on the life of the surviving spouse in one-half of such interests.

(e) BIA must include the valuation report in the probate package submitted to OHA. Interested parties may examine and copy, at their expense, the valuation report at the agency or the office of the judge.

§ 30.263 When is a final decision issued?

(a) When a decedent is shown to have owned land interests in any one or more of the reservations designated in § 30.260, the probate proceeding relative to the determination of heirs, approval or disapproval of a will, and the claims of creditors will first be concluded as final for the Department in accordance with this part. This decision is referred to in this section as the "probate decision."

(b) At the formal probate hearing, a finding must be made on the record showing those interests in land, if any, that are subject to the tribal purchase option.

(1) The finding must be included in the probate decision setting forth the apparent rights of the tribe as against affected heirs or devisees and the right of a surviving spouse whose interests are subject to the tribal purchase option to reserve a life estate in one-half of such interests.

(2) If the finding is that there are no interests subject to the tribal purchase option, the decision must so state.

(3) A copy of the probate decision, to which must be attached a copy of the valuation report, must be distributed to all interested parties in accordance with § 30.237.

§ 30.264 When may a tribe exercise its statutory option to purchase?

(a) A tribe may purchase all or a part of the available interests specified in the probate decision within 60 days of the probate decision unless a petition for rehearing has been filed under § 30.238 or a demand for hearing has been filed under § 30.268.

(b) If a petition for rehearing or a demand for hearing has been filed, a tribe may purchase all or a part of the available interests specified in the probate decision within 20 days from the date of the decision on rehearing or hearing, whichever is applicable. A tribe may not, however, claim an interest less than the decedent's total interest in any one individual tract.

(c) Upon failure to timely file a notice of purchase, the right to distribution of all unclaimed interests will accrue to the heirs or devisees.

§ 30.265 How does a tribe exercise its statutory option to purchase?

To exercise its option to purchase, the tribe must file with the agency a written notice of purchase and resolution or other authorizing document, together with the tribe's certification that copies have been mailed on the same date to the judge and to the affected heirs or devisees.

§ 30.266 May a surviving spouse reserve a life estate when a tribe exercises its statutory option to purchase?

Yes. When the heir or devisee whose interests are subject to the tribal purchase option is a surviving spouse, the spouse may reserve a life estate in one-half of the interests.

(a) To reserve a life estate, the spouse must, within 30 days after the tribe has exercised its option to purchase the interest, file with the agency both:

(1) A written notice to reserve a life estate; and

(2) A certification that copies of the notice have been mailed on the same date to the judge and the tribe.

(b) Failure to file the notice on time, as required by paragraph (a)(1) of this section, constitutes a waiver of the option to reserve a life estate.

§ 30.267 What if I disagree with the probate decision regarding tribal purchase option?

Any interested party aggrieved by the probate decision may, within 30 days from the date of the probate decision, file with the judge a written petition for rehearing in accordance with this part.

§ 30.268 May I demand a hearing regarding the tribal purchase option decision?

Yes. Any interested party aggrieved by the exercise of the tribal purchase option to purchase the interests in question or the valuation of the interests as set forth in the valuation report may file with the judge a written demand for hearing.

(a) The demand for hearing must be filed by whichever of the following deadlines is applicable:

(1) Within 30 days from the date of the probate decision;

(2) Within 30 days from the date of the decision on rehearing; or

(3) Within 20 days from the date the tribe exercises its option to purchase available interests.

(b) The demand for hearing must:

(1) Include a certification that copies of the demand have been mailed on the same date to the agency and to each interested party; and

(2) State specifically and concisely the grounds upon which it is based.

§ 30.269 What notice of the hearing will the judge provide?

The judge must, upon receiving a demand for hearing:

(a) Set a time and place for the hearing after expiration of the 30-day period fixed for the filing of the demand for hearing as provided in § 30.268; and

(b) Mail a notice of the hearing to all interested parties not less than 20 days in advance of the hearing.

§ 30.270 How will the hearing be conducted?

(a) At the hearing, each party challenging the tribe's claim to purchase the interests in question or the valuation of the interests as set forth in the valuation report will have the burden of proving his or her position.

(b) Upon conclusion of the hearing, the judge will issue a decision that determines all of the issues including, but not limited to:

(1) The fair market value of the interests purchased by the tribe; and

(2) Any adjustment of the fair market value made necessary by the surviving spouse's decision to reserve a life estate in one-half of the interests.

(c) The decision must specify a right of appeal to the Board of Indian Appeals within 30 days from the date of the decision in accordance with §§ 4.320 through 4.326 of this subtitle.

(d) The judge must lodge the complete record relating to the demand for hearing with the LTRO as provided in § 30.234, furnish a duplicate record thereof to the agency, and mail a notice of such action together with a copy of the decision to each interested party.

§ 30.271 How must the tribe pay for the interests it purchases?

(a) A tribe must pay the full fair market value of the interests purchased, as set forth in the valuation report or as determined after hearing in accordance with § 30.268, whichever is applicable.

(b) Payment must be made within 2 years from the date of decedent's death or within 1 year from the date of notice of purchase, whichever is later.

§ 30.272 What are the Superintendent's duties upon payment by the tribe?

Upon payment by the tribe of the interests purchased, the Superintendent must:

(a) Issue a certificate to the judge that payment has been made; and

(b) File with the certificate all supporting documents required by the judge.

§ 30.273 What action will the judge take to record title?

After receiving the certificate and supporting documents, the judge will:

(a) Issue an order that the United States holds title to the interests in trust for the tribe;

(b) File the complete record, including the decision, with the LTRO as provided in § 30.234;

(c) Furnish a duplicate copy of the record to the agency; and

(d) Mail a notice of the action together with a copy of the decision to each interested party.

§ 30.274 What happens to income from land interests during pendency of the probate?

During the pendency of the probate and up to the date of transfer of title to the United States in trust for the tribe in accordance with § 30.273, all income received or accrued from the land interests purchased by the tribe will be credited to the estate and paid to the heirs.
