

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Artificial Intelligence Law: Practice and Theory, INTP-560-SI

Faculty: Mark Chinen (Professor, Seattle University) and Jennifer Dumas (Senior Legal Counsel, Allen Institute for Artificial Intelligence)

Schedule: May 31st - June 28th M/W – 4:00-5:50p.m. plus one all-day session on June 24 (no class June 19th).

Online: All course sessions will be conducted online via Zoom or a similar platform.

This course examines the legal and ethical issues of Artificial Intelligence, and includes the following objectives:

- Introduces AI and considers its likely uses in society and in the economy
- Identifies AI concerns with respect to intellectual property, privacy law, tort, contract, agency, and the law of war
- Examines the role regulation will play in AI governance
- Considers broader implications of AI at the intersection of law and ethics.

Counseling Startups: Law, Regulation and Fundraising, BUSN-560.-SI

Faculty: Paul Swegle (General Counsel & Secretary of CareXM, PolyVascular, Observa, and Chapterly)

Schedule: June 6th- June 29th T/Th - 4:00pm - 5:50p.m. plus one all-day session on July 1st.

Online: All course sessions will be conducted online via Zoom or a similar platform.

Launching a company requires thoughtful decision-making and careful execution of myriad legal and regulatory tasks-all at the speed of business, and with limited resources. This course is about advising entrepreneurs and startups how to build, grow, and finance innovative businesses and how to prevent and address common legal, governance, and regulatory challenges.

The course is split into two sections:

- First half – business law fundamentals for advising startups, including choosing the best entity-type, forming companies soundly, protecting intellectual property, and minimizing friction and uncertainty by proactively structuring relationships with and among co-founders, employees, board members, and independent contractors.
- Second half - counseling startups on raising funds in the right amounts, at the right intervals, from the right investors, and on the right terms. Running out of cash is the second most common reason startups fail. Lawyers who can help founders succeed at early-stage fundraising are invaluable. Learn about startup fundraising processes, terminology, instruments, participants, regulations, and key strategies for fundraising success.

The Role of In-House Counsel: Lawyering within an Organization, LPRC-325-SI

Faculty: Maja Larson (Equinox Business Law Group, Vice President, Client Services) and Jane Orenstein (General Counsel, Delta Dental)

Schedule: July 10th - July 20th M/T/W/TH– 4:00pm - 5:50pm, plus one all-day session on July 15th and one evening session on July 14th.

Online: All course sessions will be conducted online via Zoom or a similar platform.

Learn the role and responsibilities of an in-house lawyer, a unique position that must understand multiple practice areas and possess a working knowledge of business principles. Students study the legal challenges of a company and work through how best to counsel their internal clients on risks and issues. Each class has guests who are legal and business professionals to help students understand the role from multiple perspectives.