OUR MISSION

1 Indigenizing Law Curriculum

Placing an emphasis on Indigenous Peoples Law in curriculum, research, programs and projects at the school.

2 Program Development

Unique learning opportunities through innovative classes, practical experience and service to Native Nations.

3 Increasing Awareness

Conducting research in, and increasing awareness of, current legal issues in Indigenous Peoples Law.

4 Community Engagement

Developing programs and providing legal services to Native Nations.

WHO WE ARE

The Center for Indian Law and Policy, American Indian Law Journal, and Native American Law Students Association at Seattle University all strive to ensure tribal history, law, and government are integral parts of every student's legal education. We are committed to developing powerful advocates prepared to serve Native Nations.
